

Nuclear Test Ban Talks in 3rd Day Of Negotiations

Moscow, Washington Reflect Growing Mood of Optimism

MOSCOW (AP) — American and British negotiators discussed with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko again today the possibility of a ban on testing of nuclear weapons.

It was the third day of the conference, which got off to a buoyant start Monday in Premier Khrushchev's Kremlin office.

Gromyko arrived first at the meeting place, the Spudnikovka Palace. Next came Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, head of the U.S. delegation, and Lord Hailsham of Britain.

A dark thundercloud passed over the palace as the negotiators entered. Though secrecy surrounds the discussions, there were growing indications that the negotiators are going straight to the test ban issue itself, with other issues brushed aside.

A report from Washington that a close associate of President Kennedy said an American-Soviet nonaggression pledge might follow a test ban agreement here paralleled similar reports current in Moscow.

It is increasingly clear that the nonaggression pact once asked by Khrushchev between the North Atlantic Alliance and Warsaw Pact powers as a sort of condition for agreement on banning tests in the air, outer space and under water, has been largely removed as a "condition."

There was optimism here, but it was restrained to a noticeable degree by the recognition on both sides that months of bickering had failed to make any sure progress.

Good Humor

A three-power announcement Tuesday night said the second conference session was conducted "in a friendly atmosphere." Once again all three delegations appeared in good humor as they left the conference.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who opened the conference Monday, was understood to be keeping in close touch with the talks and was expected to take a personal role again soon. Western diplomats considered Khrushchev's interest to be evidence of Soviet readiness to agree on a test ban. It was understood that Khrushchev

Drastic Change Asked for Stock Market Trade

Recommendations by SEC Unexpected; Investors Reassured

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unexpectedly drastic overhaul of the operation and self-policing of the nation's major stock exchanges was recommended today by Securities and Exchange Commission members.

The recommendation was in the second installment of a 2-year investigation of the securities markets. The report, calling for the outright abolition of floor trading, was sent to Congress by SEC chairman William L. Cary, without an official endorsement of any of the dozens of specific changes proposed by the investigation team.

Weaknesses Abuses

Cary said the report pictured "basically strong institutions subject to many specific weaknesses and abuses." He reassured investors that: "This report should not impair public confidence in the securities markets, but should strengthen it as suggestions for rising standards are put into practice."

The report struck at ancient institutions of the "Big Board"—the New York Stock Exchange—and, to a lesser extent, of the second-ranking American Stock Exchange by recommending:

1. The elimination, in two steps over the next 18 months, of floor trading on both exchanges. This is the buying and selling of stocks by members on the exchange floor in quest of quick profits. The investigators held that this has an unstabilizing effect.

Stiffer Rules

2. Stiffer exchange rules to correct what was described as inadequate policing of stock specialists. These are members appointed to manage the trading in specified stocks, who are supposed to stabilize the market by buying or selling for their own accounts to counteract violent price upsurges or slumps.

State Republicans Plan Bill More to Own Liking

Sales Tax Provision In Measure

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Republicans in the Wisconsin Assembly, with their vote majority, have virtually agreed to scuttle Democratic Gov. John Reynolds' compromise tax and budget bill and to write a substitute more to their liking.

Announcement of the Republican plan was made Tuesday night by the house leadership, which declined however to detail what the GOP's alternative solution to the state financing crisis might be.

But it is likely to involve a cutback from the $636 million biennial spending level reluctantly agreed to by the governor—who wanted a higher expenditures program—and a re-enactment of the kind of general sales tax the Republicans earlier approved, but which the governor vetoed.

Announcement of the evolving alternative fiscal plan was made by Assembly Speaker Robert Haase and Paul Alfonsi, Eagle River assemblyman and Republican majority leader.

Referring to the top-heavy vote against the Reynolds' compromise last week, Alfonsi noted that the governor won only 13 of the 46 Democrats in the house to his side, and observed:

Not Enough Support

"I am satisfied beyond a doubt that there is not enough support to pass the governor's bill."

When Haase was asked whether the Republican substitute would be acceptable to the governor, he replied:

"He had better work with the people who can pass a bill," a reference to the fact that the Republicans have a solid working majority in both houses of the legislature.

Reynolds has gone a considerable distance in conceding sales tax points to the Republicans. It is now apparent that they feel they can nudge him further, and thus eliminate the need for higher income taxes plus the bundle of special taxes on special groups which raised such a storm of resistance that the so-called compromise went

Police Subdue Demonstration By Buddhists

Rifle Butts, Clubs Used Against Monks, Nuns in Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Swinging rifle butts and clubs, South Vietnamese riot police laid into a demonstration of Buddhist monks, nuns and women and children followers today, injuring at least 50.

Police backed by steel-helmeted troops arrested more than 200 demonstrators, flinging them bodily into army trucks.

Demonstrators sprawled in the dust as security forces kicked and clubbed them.

Smaller demonstrations, involving about 100 monks and nuns each, broke out around Saigon's central market and in Cholon, the Vietnamese capital's Chinatown. Riot police quelled them quickly and carried off several dozen more demonstrators.

Hunger Strike

The new Buddhist demonstrations against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, erupted as a 48-hour hunger strike by more than 200 monks and nuns went into its second day.

There were rumors that martial law might be imposed.

The biggest demonstration was at Giac Minh Pagoda, where more than 1,000 Buddhists gathered secretly overnight to march to the Xa Loi pagoda where the hunger strikers are.

Police got wind of the plan, threw barbed wire barricades across roads and called in troops.

Monks and nuns tried to break through the barbed wire several times but were thrown back. Two monks fainted and were laid prostrate in front of the wire.

A monk addressed the police and assembled newsmen over a

Iron Age Predicts Mill, Factory Closings if Railroad Unions Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A railroad strike would mean some steel mills and auto plants would close almost immediately, says Iron Age magazine.

The trade publication said steel mills are pretty well supplied with raw materials, but they need trains to deliver finished products. Many would close rather than clog their warehouses.

Some auto assembly plants unable to switch to trucks or barges for supplies might have to shut down within hours after a strike, the magazine said.

It said few firms seem to have arranged for alternate shipping. Iron Age said one firm reported it would take 600 trucks to handle shipping done by 200 rail cars, and it could not accommodate that many trucks at its loading docks.

State Opposed to Suspension Of Air Service at Clintonville

Commission Director Takes No Position on Outagamie Airport

WAUSAU — Elimination of air door-to-door transportation by service at Clintonville was opposed by the director of the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission cities designated as regional air ports Tuesday but the state agency port stops. Jordan wants the air head took no position on the Appleton-Oshkosh airport controversy.

The state agency head said the Civil Air Commission favored a regional airport to serve Wausau, Wis. Jordan told the Civil Air Commission Board's regional airport at Clintonville will not result in increased business at Green Bay, Oshkosh or Appleton.

Jordan also opposed elimination of air service at Ashland and Land O' Lakes.

In the Ashland situation, Jordan said the commission objects because the area is considered a "depressed region" and air service helps funnel in tourist trade upon which that section of the state is dependent. He said consolidation of Land O' Lakes - Rhinelander would improve the situation.

14 Americans Wounded During Viet Cong Attack

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas raked the airport of South Viet Nam's second largest city with mortars and machine guns Tuesday night, wounding 14 U.S. Army Special Forces troops.

The attack on the Can Tho Airport, 60 miles southwest of Saigon, lasted only eight minutes, but between 16 and 20 mortar shells hit the installation and one of the 60 mm shells went through the roof of a shack housing the Special Forces team, inflicting all the casualties.

Ten of the wounded Americans were taken to the 8th U.S. Army field hospital in Nha Trang. Three were in serious condition. Three Vietnamese also were wounded. Damage to the airport was comparatively light. A light plane and an automobile were damaged, and there were bullet holes in several buildings.

Top Spot Only, Laird Says

Byrnes Viewed as GOP Vice President Timber

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speculation about the 1964 political campaign is superseding interest in an idling Congress. Rumors are buzzing in all the corridors of the Capitol.

There is chit chat, for instance, that Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., may be pushed for the GOP vice presidential nomination at the party's national convention next year.

The people who like this thought say that Byrnes, coming from a midwest state, would be acceptable as a running mate to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona or to New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

They also point out that Byrnes is a Catholic and this might be a favorable factor on a Republican ticket to counter the reelection drive of President Kennedy, also a Catholic.

Important Figure

Byrnes, who is serving his 10th, two-year term in the House, is an increasingly important figure in the House Republican leadership. He is chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee and the senior Republican on the influential House Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., a close friend of Byrnes, towns on talk about Byrnes for vice president.

Laird earlier this year initiated a drive to make Byrnes a favorite son candidate for the presidency and head the Wisconsin delegation to the National Convention in 1964.

Byrnes has not let out any word as to his reaction but close associates say they expect he will agree sometime next fall to run as a favorite son.

Persistent Rumors

"There are persistent rumors," Laird said, "that the favorite son device in Wisconsin is in reality a device to secure the vice presidential nomination for Byrnes."

"This is not so. My own aim is to push Byrnes for the presidential nomination, period. He is

Poland Seeking Canadian Wheat

WINNIPEG (AP) — Poland is negotiating for the purchase of 3,700,000 bushels of wheat worth about $7 million from Canada, reliable sources said Tuesday.

The Communist country has become a regular customer for Canadian wheat in recent years. It took 14,200,000 bushels last fall.

A Yugoslav delegation is making final arrangements for shipment of 7.5 million bushels of wheat purchased earlier.

In another pending deal, negotiations for a large wheat sale to Communist China are continuing in Hong Kong.

What Happened?, Republicans Ask

24 Million Bushels of U. S. Grain Lost Somewhere on Way to Austria

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are pressing for a congressional investigation into the disappearance of 24 million bushels of U.S. grain vanished somewhere on the way to Austria.

The $32 million worth of corn, barley and sorghum "could have gone behind the Iron Curtain" in violation of U.S. barter agreements, said Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., Tuesday in demanding a Senate investigation.

Or, he said, the grain "may have been diverted and sold in Western Germany for dollars," which would also be a violation of U.S. barter deals.

Barter deals are restricted to non-Communist countries that will not otherwise pay dollars for U.S. farm products.

He said consolidation of Land O' Lakes - Rhinelander would improve the situation.

Dirksen said the grain was loaded on ships in this country but apparently never got to Austria. Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said "the silence has been deafening" since he asked Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman last month about the disappearance and what was being done to prevent such cases from recurring.

Condon said the department is receiving the agreed upon minimum in the barter exchange. Williams said seven importers have been arrested in Austria because they do not see how the seeking to prevent any possible grain could have disappeared without some collusion with some exporters to submit papers showing where bartered goods are unloaded abroad.

Williams said the Justice Department should join the investigation.

There appears to be an effort on the part of some bureaucratic officials to excuse this illegal diversion on the basis of carelessness or incompetence," Williams said.

"No man can be so stupid or so incompetent as to lose completely 24 million bushels of grain without knowing it," he said.

Inmates Save Taxpayers' Money By Producing Food They Consume

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A provident Mother Nature saves Wisconsin taxpayers a pretty penny each year because she is pressed into service at the Wisconsin State Reformatory at Allouez to produce the food that the inmates consume.

Mother Nature gets an able and intelligent assist from the gardener at the reformatory who says, "I can't fail here: it is necessary that we raise good crops."

The gardener, a husky fellow and a gentle man, is Floyd Burchell, who has been an employee of the reformatory for 26 years and its gardener for 19 of them.

Born and raised on a farm near Hillsboro in Vernon County, Burchell came to the reformatory as a guard but is now generally considered to be one of the finest gardeners of the state's payroll.

Under Burchell's management, most of the 70 acres of the reformatory proper are in production of virtually all of the edibles consumed there.

Nature, prodded a bit by Burchell, has been bountiful enough to provide in one recent year a savings to the taxpayer of more than $27,000 in canning goods alone. It represented a savings of something more than 11 cents per can had they been purchased rather than raised and preserved at the institution.

"I take great pride in raising good crops," Burchell said, and he added, "I am especially proud of our fruits." It shows, too, in the reformatory orchards which produces some 22 different varieties of apples.

Following one prolonged period of experimentation Burchell has been able to jump production to a total of 30 bushels of first grade apples from a single tree. His technique, terminal or tip pruning in the springtime, was at first scoffed at by doubting orchardists who now espouse the method he pioneered.

12,000 Trees

The institution's 12,000 apple trees recently produced 154,626 bushels of fruit in one year. The reformatory inmates consume Burchell's "farmhands" are, of part of the crop and the surplus is sent to the 1,800 patients at the Northern Colony at Chippewa Falls.

Other surplus crops are sent to other state institutions, principally the state prison at Waupun.

Healthful foods in adequate quantities have a significant reform potential. Hence, fine fruits are raised plentifully. An average recent year will provide the inmates with strawberries, currants, melons, cantaloupes, gooseberries, plums, raspberries, blackberries, plums, pears and grapes. Presently, the institution's garden is preparing a bumper crop from 12 acres of tomatoes, seven acres of green and wax beans, three acres of beets, three of cucumbers, three of cantaloupes, six of cabbage, two of onions, one acre of strawberries, one half acre of green peppers, one half of celery and various acreage in lettuce, Swiss chard, radishes, carrots and even honey from 11 hives of bees kept for pollinating. In one recent year the bees provided the inmates with 420 pounds of honey.

Burchell's source of much pride are the eight rows of highly productive grape vines which have yielded bunches weighing up to one and a quarter pounds.

The institution cans thousands of pounds of food—342,256 in 1961—and even manufactures its own sauerkraut. In that year, the reformatory raised and canned about 17 per cent of the food grown at state institutions. It was valued at almost $6,000, although its purchase price on the open market would approximate $9,000.

Young men from the big cities

often find pleasure in gardening work and it is not rare for a big-city neophyte gardener to make, that his life's work when discharged from the institution.

His present workers come from big cities, small and middling towns and even some from farms, but 80 per cent of them have come into the Reformatory since the first of June.

"During this season," Burchell said, "I can use every hand that is available to me. Burchell, born of German and Irish parents, is well liked and much admired by inmates and officials alike, but he's far from a softy in getting the workers to keep hard at the job. He believes, as do most officials of punitive institutions, that such young men can be reclaimed and that working in the realm of a bountiful nature can do much to develop character and a capacity for good citizenship.

He makes his office adjacent to the large greenhouse wherein he raises, among other things, varieties of lovely flowers which are used in institution offices and

Agriculture Unit Creates New Set Of Building Rules

The state Department of Agriculture has repealed and recreated the rules in its administrative code which deal with building and home improvement practices and will put the regulations into effect Aug. 1.

Hearings on the proposed rules were conducted earlier this year, but they were not put into effect until contractors and organizations who asked to hold conferences on them had been accommodated.

The rules expand the state regulations on roofing and siding, which had been in effect for several years. The regulations have been extended to windows, doors, awnings, heating and air conditioning equipment, water softeners and purifiers, fallout shelter, fire extinguishers and other "permanent home installations."

Among practices which will be prohibited, will be false "model" home claims, scare tactics, misleading discount prices and 35 specific unfair advertising and sales practices.

Air Force Probes Missile Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Air Force investigators are studying five seconds of radioed data in an effort to determine what caused a Minuteman missile to explode.

The 58-foot intercontinental range rocket blew apart Tuesday night just after darting out of the 85-foot-deep launching pit for an intended 4,000-mile test flight.

The missile was an advanced Wing 2 model, of a type which the Defense Department declared operational earlier this month.

Schlitz Declares Extra Dividend

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. announced Tuesday that because of record sales and increased earnings in the first six months of 1963, its directors have declared an extra 20 cent dividend in addition to the regular quarterly dividend, and raised the annual dividend rate from $1.20 to $1.40 for 1964.

President Robert A. Uihlein Jr. said that Schlitz earnings rose 33 per cent, from $5 million in the first half of 1962 to $6.6 million this year, while sales increased from $97.4 million to $107.4 million.

All three brands marketed by Schlitz participated in the increases, Uihlein said.

Peasants in Cuba Yearn for Past

Assert That at Least Under Batista More Freedom Prevailed

BY GEORGE ARFELD

The Cuban peasant, once a cheering supporter of Fidel Castro, today mutters increasingly against the Communist regime which has made a joke of land reform, while encroaching day by day on his way of life.

Still as appallingly poor as before the advent of the bearded ruler, most peasants this correspondent met during his stay in Cuba yearn for a return to the past. They say that then, at least they were free to do as they pleased.

"Things have never been so bad before," a 68-year-old retired cattle foreman said, shaking his head. "Fidel has turned (former dictator Fulgencio) Batista into a saint, by comparison," commented a Malanzas Province squatter.

"Had Batista been satisfied with stealing only three, maybe four million pesos, maybe all would have gone well," the squatter added.

For the peasant, life in the backlands is rough. Shortages are far more acute than those experienced in Havana.

"Havana is paradise, compared to Oriente Province," a Negro peasant said.

Shortages Acute
Milk, beef, rice, bread, even sugar, are frequently absent from country store shelves for long periods.

Take the case of Pipo Diaz, a Pinar del Rio Province squatter, who lives in a thatched wooden hut with his wife and five children.

He claims he has had no beef for almost a year, because peasants are forbidden to slaughter their steers and no meat is being sent from the cities.

The whitewashed hut lies up from a brook, between a patch of corn and some native potato plants. Pipo's children romp around the hut clad in faded cottons. None wears shoes.

There've been no boots or shoes for us 'guajiro' (peasants). If you want boots you have to join the militia or a government cooperative," Pipo says.

Lord Poor
"Everything is a mess these days," his wife chips in. She hands over an open charcoal fire, cooking oil—lard is poor and mostly rancid; they are always out of hard crackers. To get a tin of evaporated milk you have to obtain a coupon from the Committee of the Defense of the revolution.

Lunch is served: boiled corn—fanning the embers on which the meal with a handful of chopped onion on top and boiled malanga. Black coffee.

Why doesn't Pipo raise more chickens and hogs, or plant more vegetables?

"First of all," he explains, "at the prices the government pays us for pigs and produce we make no profit and are never sure they will pay. Secondly, in case we harvest a surplus, they'll force us to sell it to them."

Pipo shows off his three-room hut. In the bedroom there are two large beds: one for the couple and the latest baby, the other for the three boys and the 12-year-old girl.

In the living room two rocking chairs face each other. Stiff posing relatives and startled infants peer from framed sepia photographs. A faded picture of Castro torn from a magazine is tacked to the wall.

Two Rocking Chairs
"You never know who'll come around," Pipo shrugs. As it does with other independent farmers who refuse to toe the party line, the government is applying subtle pressure to force Pipo to join a cooperative or people farm. Unless he does so, it will be increasingly difficult for him to obtain feed, fertilizer, boots, wire and other farming implements.

Since joining a state cooperative means growing what the government determines and then turning over a high percentage of the crop to the regime, Pipo feels he'd "rather be killed" than buckle under. Later he concedes that with six months to feed, maybe he will eventually have to give in.

Wednesday, July 17, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent A11

Pipo holds a very low opinion of the state farm managing of his area.

"Burns and handits, that's what not like."

They were and still are," he says savagely. "They've got everyone scared around here. There's one peasant in 100 who's for the revolution. Those who, like myself, once believed in it changed our minds when Fidel said he was Communist. That, sir, is a name we do not like."

Gone But Not Forgotten — Spain's 'Blue Division' Is Commemorated

BY RICHARD SCOTT MOWBR

MADRID—Gone but not forgotten, Spain's Blue Division was the object of the commemorative exercises over the weekend. Veterans of the unit who fought alongside the Germans in World War II met in various parts of Spain to mark the 22nd anniversary of the divisions departure for the Eastern front in July, 1941. Added luster was provided in this year's ceremonies by the participation of two cabinet members of Francisco Franco's government. Deputy Premier Gen. Agustin Munoz Grandes, no. 2 man after Franco in the regime's hierarchy and Jose Solis, minister - secretary of the National Movement. The 150,000-strong Blue Division was pulled out of the war in April, 1944, a few weeks before the Allied landings in shirled, blackbooted organization that resembled Benito Mussolini's para - military blackshirts. The Falange is Spain's only authorized political force. It has lost much of its earlier influence, ostentation and identity through absorption into the broader, all-inclusive political entity known as the National Movement. The Blue Division was supplemented by a squadron of 76 air-men. It suffered 14,000 casualties, including 6,286 dead. Its men wore the German uniform with a distinguishing shoulder patch with the word "Espana" over the red-and-gold colors of Spain. Heavily padded with replacements, the Blue Division was pulled out of the war in April, 1944, a few weeks before the Allied landings in eastern frontier of Europe. hospitable and frozen lands where her real enemy was to be found. They fought Soviet Russia, who was chiefly responsible for the tragedies which Spain endured during three years of civil war. "Spain remained strictly neutral in the war which the Western powers were waging among themselves, and we have seen who benefitted from this neutrality (the Western powers)." "The Blue Division can only be judged and understood if we see it in a completely separate dispute, a chapter in an ideological and material struggle between Spain and communism. The latter, with the passing of the years, has turned itself into a menace to the whole of the West."

Hattiesburg Voter Registrar Must Okay 43 Negro Applicants

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The voter registrar at Hattiesburg, Miss., has until July 30 to obey a federal court order or go to jail. The choice was given to Theron C. Lynd, 43, Monday when he was convicted of civil contempt by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Lynd declined to comment on the decision. To stay out of jail, Lynd must register 43 Negroes, rejected as incapable of passing the voter test, and show he no longer discriminate against Negro applicants. If he doesn't meet the July 30 deadline, he'll go to jail until he does comply.

Britain Rejects U.N. Intervention in Guiana
LONDON (AP) — Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys returned from British Guiana Tuesday and ruled out United Nations intervention in the racially divided South American colony. "With all respect to the United Nations," Sandys told reporters, "the situation is complicated enough without introducing any outside elements."

At LEATH "Clearance" means C-L-E-A-R-A-N-C-E. It means "clear," "get rid of," "remove." To do this, we don't just nibble at regular prices, but chop, slash, cut deeply to cost and far below . . . WHY? . . . Perhaps a line is changed, part of a group has been sold, some lines are discontinued and the usual odds and ends and floor samples. Then there are pieces we've looked at too long. BDM Natives Party Hawaiian Style

A pounding surf, a swaying hula to Polynesian rhythm, a banquet of food, and gaiety and bright colors all suggest Hawaii. Most of these ingredients were present in abundance when natives of Butte des Morts Golf Club gathered for their Beachcomber Party Saturday night.

Vivid colors sang Hawaiian style from flowered shift dresses and gay shirts, layers of bright leis around necks and imaginative wall decorations set an island mood as guests moved with tropic leisure through cocktails from 6:30 to 8, outdoor hors d'oeuvres, a bounteous dinner at 8, and on to some native hip swinging at the instruction of an experienced hula dancer.

Negress Leader of Protests

CAMBRIDGE, Md., (AP) —

Some day Mrs. Gloria Richardson hopes to be a social worker in this eastern shore community torn by racial strife.

But right now, the slender Negro woman sees her job as trying to make Cambridge "A place Negroes can live in" — even if it means going to jail as she did last night.

Arrest and jail are nothing new to the 41-year-old Mrs. Richardson.

Released along with 13 other Negro leaders last night after 500 Negroes threatened new mass demonstrations, she immediately announced "We will march again" today in defiance of a ban imposed by national guardsmen who control the town.

Heads Movement

She has been in and out of jail a number of times for participating in demonstrations ever since Negroes elected her chairman of the Cambridge Non-violent Action Committee two years ago. Once her mother and 17-year-old daughter were locked up with her.

Neither have threats of violence deterred her.

"I've had threats. It could become an actuality. Sooner or later people have to focus their hate on someone."

She has made her modest white frame home the headquarters for the demonstrators.

Broke Vow

Many years ago, she went to Howard University in Washington and swore she would never return to Cambridge. Her grandfather had served as the city coun-cul's sole Negro member for 50 years and she knew the problems of Cambridge Negroes.

But she did come back and married a school teacher. They are now divorced.

What does she hope to achieve for Negroes?

She gave an indication of the kind of atmosphere she wants to live in while reminiscing about a trip she once made to Canada.

She found virtually no discrimination there, she said, and "it was the first experience of feeling perfectly normal and human."

"It was as if a big burden was lifted off my shoulders."

Regardless of Custom, Sloppy Service Doesn't Deserve Tip

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with interest your answer to the lady who complained because her young man didn't leave a tip. I have witnessed this strange behavior for over 20 years and I'm no closer to understanding it now than when I married into this family. Can you give me some insight? — Unsolved Mystery

What makes an individual delight in creating unhappiness and friction among members of a family? Please explain, if you can, why some people must dominate others to the point where they rob them of self-respect and confidence and virtually drain the life out of them?

I have witnessed this strange behavior for over 20 years and I'm no closer to understanding it now than when I married into this family. Can you give me some insight? — Unsolved Mystery

Landers

I'm a salesman. I travel a great deal and I eat out five days a week. If a waitress looks my way a couple of times during a meal, brings over the coffee jug for a second cup, or sees to it that my water glass is filled, I feel she deserves a tip and she gets it.

But what about the sloppy dame who throws a sandwich and a cup of coffee at you? The one who is so busy yakking with another waitress about what a weed she was out with last night? Or the one who is too busy to notice that your fork has egg on it? Does she deserve a tip?

I drew one of these floozies at lunch today. She said, "I'm going off duty so you can tip me now!" Frankly, I felt like tipping her over.

May we hear from you again on this? — San Bernardino Sam

Dear Sam: Tipping is a built-in custom, and many people do depend on tips for a living, but a tip should say, "Thank you for good service." It should not say, "Thank you for ignoring and insulting me."

A tip is a reward, not an obligation. Every customer has the right to expect, in return for his tip, pleasant and courteous attention and reasonably good service.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why would a person go out of his way

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS, ELLIOTT

claim — I am writing to express my views on middle-aged Lotharios. Will you comment, please? I firmly believe that most married men don't want mistresses or extra-curricular affairs. They want the woman they married. But where is she?

As "things" become the almighty measure of success to a woman, love diminishes in importance. And it doesn't matter if the man earns 20 or 30 or 40 thousand dollars a year. There are always friends or relatives who make more. His status as husband and lover shrinks as her appetite for clothes, cars, furs, trips, and jewelry increases.

How can a marriage provide a fulfilling physical relationship when a wife takes to bed with her a whole host of unsatisfied yearnings? She isn't thinking about him, she's thinking about new draperies and a third car. And this is why middle-aged men wander away from hearth and home. The fire is out —

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Because I believe you are on the side of Truth, and not on the side of Women — as some men and they go in search of warmth and comfort. — Voice of Experience

Dear Voice: Your letter is a fine example of what a man can expect when he marries a cash register instead of a woman.

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. Ann Landers' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

NAME IDENTIFICATION COMPLETE

Dear Louise: As you will note on this stationery, my name and address are printed at the top.

To avoid identification, let us say my name is Mrs. Joseph Williams Smith and I shall correctly sign: Jean Adams Smith. In this case, is it necessary for me to write beneath my signature in parentheses: Mrs. Joseph?

Louise Davis Answers:

No. Your signature and name identification are complete. However, you wouldn't be making a social error if you include the parenthetical Mrs. Joseph, even if it is a repetition of the printed name at the top of your stationery.

GIRL WANTS GIFTS RETURNED

Dear Louise: After my son's death, his girl requested that I return to her all of the gifts she had given him. She has written me a note listing the items including a transistor radio, cigarette lighter and a barometer. As far as I know, they were not engaged. Must I return these articles?

Louise Davis Answers:

No, but I shouldn't think that you would want to keep these things as long as the girl has asked for them.

Sheinwold Don't be Greedy in Grand Slam

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you're not satisfied with being a human being, don't bother to become a pig. It would play the dickens with your bridge game. I pass this advice on without charge to the few players who got to seven notrump with today's hand when it came along during Bridge Week in Los Angeles at the end of May.

Normal expert bidding, as shown in the bidding diagram, should get you to seven diamonds. Even this is a slightly risky contract from North's point of view. South may have two little spades and two little clubs, with A-Q-J-x of hearts and K-Q-10-x-x of diamonds. If so, a spade trick will be lost.

monads. Even this is a slightly risky contract from North's point of view. South may have two little spades and two little clubs, with A-Q-J-x of hearts and K-Q-10-x-x of diamonds. If so, a spade trick will be lost.

Real Problem

The real problem is how to play the hand if you are greedy enough to bid seven notrump. This happened to five or six players in the Los Angeles tournament, but nobody brought home the grand slam in notrump. It was better to be a rabbit and stop at slam slam or even game!

South can make seven notrump against a club or diamond opening lead. He simply runs all the diamonds and clubs, discarding one spade from dummy.

East must reduce to five cards so cannot keep two small cards with each of his queens. If East keeps only two spades, all of North's spades become good; and if East keeps only two hearts, all of South's hearts are set up.

The position is very unusual since East needs at least five hearts headed by Q-10-9 in addition to the queen of spades for the squeeze play to work. In practice, those who tried to make seven notrump cashed the top spades in the hope of dropping a doubleton queen.

As my broker sometimes puts it, sometimes the bulls win and sometimes the bears win; but the pigs never win.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S A J 1 0 6 4 H K D A J: E 7 C A K 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. You don't have a good fit with hearts or a solid suit of your own, but you can carry on to slam on the strength of your high cards. Let partner know the joyful news at once so that he can cooperate with you in picking the best slam.

Clintonville Class Celebrates Silver Anniversary Reunion

CLINTONVILLE — Graduates part of the evening's entertainment of the Clintonville High School Class of 1938 observed their silver anniversary at a dinner and program Saturday evening at Fischer's Riviera Supper Club.

Of the 67 graduates in the class, 36 attended the party. Mrs. Wallace Felts, Culver City, Calif., was honored for traveling the longest distance to attend the reunion. The class enjoyed group singing as

Suit Jackets Fall, Coats Rise in Rome

BY CHARLOTTE EBENER

ROME — Long suit jackets and short coats flaring from the shoulder blades have been endorsed by some of Rome's leading fashion exporters.

The long jackets were lightly fitted and belted in front, falling in full unabashed swag in back at Eleanora Garnett.

High stand-up collars were added to Gattinoni's full suit jackets. Both designers liked hoods, attached to jacket or blouse.

The long tunic jackets at Centinaro fastened down the back, but the buttons were ingeniously hidden by borders of fur.

The long jackets also fashioned evening suits of brocade with skin, ankle length skirts. Nobody is to bring back the empire line for collars, front facings, cuffs, dance dresses, but Barnett, Gregoriana and Gattinoni all showed versions of it.

Silhouettes are so varied in Rome that this fall the Italian woman can choose any pet line, except pleats and an open Chanel-type jacket.

SEAMS TO ME Questions On Sewing

By Patricia Scott

When buying interfacing for dresses you intend to launder, inquire about washability of the material. For instance, some fabrics, such as muslin and lawn must be shrunk first.

Q. If interfacing or underlining is not called for on a pattern, and I wish to use them, how do I cut them?

A. You don't have to make patterns for these pieces? — Mrs. J. B. ny, ankle length skirts. Nobody is to bring back the empire line for collars, front facings, cuffs, dance dresses, but Barnett, Gregoriana and Gattinoni all showed versions of it.

Silhouettes are so varied in Rome that this fall the Italian woman can choose any pet line, except pleats and an open Chanel-type jacket.

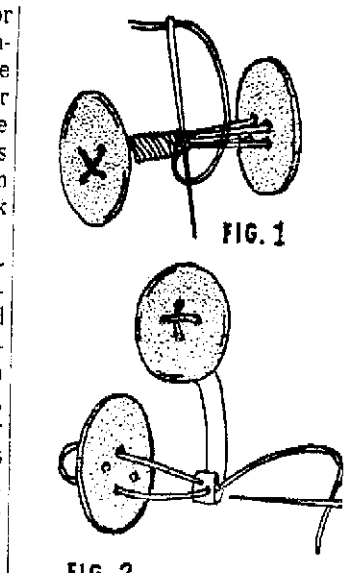

Q. What kind of thread is used, and how is the loop made to fasten together two matching buttons for a cuff link? — Miss P.T.

A. To make such a link use heavy duty cotton thread or silk buttonhole twist. As in figure 1, pass the thread through the buttons several times. Then securely fasten the end of the thread and start covering the strands with blanket stitches. To make these work from left to right, hold the thread down with the thumb, bring the needle around and draw it through the loop that has been formed. Cover the entire link with stitches very close together. You can also make a fabric link as in figure 2 by sewing the buttons to the ends of tape, cord or a fabric strip.

Sons Room and Board Should Be Based on General Rate

BY MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley: I would like to know what to charge my son for room and board. He is single, 22 years of age, and earning from $80 to $125 a week.

In the present economy, should it be based on a stipulated weekly amount, or a percentage of his earnings?

Mrs. H. P., Rochester, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. P.: Why not base it on the assumption that room and board elsewhere would probably cost him a minimum of $20 a week. Since he will undoubtedly get more for his money with you as landlady, this should represent pretty good living. If you expect to include laundry and other comforts, which at this late date, I own a car will mean extra expense for you, then you could simply ask for a fourth of his income. Based on $100 a week, striking an average between $80 and $125, this would be $25.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a practical nurse student, with about four and a half months before I finish my training. Working a full day at the hospital, it is almost impossible to take a job in the evening and do justice to it. I wonder if there is any way to borrow money in order to finish this training?

I am a veteran of World War II but as far as I can find out the VA does not loan funds for this type of training, at least not at this late date. I own a car and have a mortgage on a small project home in Lauderdale. But question making sleep monthly payments. We barely make it with the usual bills, plus tuition for three children in parochial school, plus the extras for books and supplies, etc.

Is there any organization that will lend money to such a project that can be paid back after the program is complete? I am not interested in private loan companies where the interest is so high it is almost impossible to pay, let alone the principal.

M.E.T., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Dear M.E.T.:

The National Association for Practical Nurses and other resources tell me there are no national programs offering financial help in cases such as yours.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I wonder if you can tell me if I am making a wise move by turning in my paid up insurance policy to get a used car for the family. Our 1949 Ford is on its last lap and I can't see me buying a new car. It's out of the project home in Lauderdale. But question making sleep monthly payments. We barely make it with the usual bills, plus tuition for three children in parochial school, plus the extras for books and supplies, etc.

I would naturally take out a new policy, the same amount, so I would still be covered. Would I be making a nice big fat mistake? Or would you advise me to leave the policy as is and accumulate dividends? Getting a new policy would mean making a yearly payment of $30 or so, while getting even a used car would run about $50 or so a month.

My husband is not keen on the idea. He hates to see me use the money for a car, though it is a necessity as he uses it for work. As long as I am the one handling the paycheck, I'm looking for an easy way out.

Mrs. J.B., Chicago

Dear Mrs. B.: Since you mention $30 a year as the premium you would have to pay for a new policy in the same amount, I assume you're talking about a $1,000 policy. So the accumulated dividends would not be enough in themselves to pay for a car. If they were, then that, of course, would be the policy of $1,000? You'd better find that out before you give up the protection you already have.

Win a Set of 3 Books in This Seed-Counting Contest

BY CAPPY DICK

How many watermelon seeds are in the adjoining picture? If you count them correctly and prepare a contest entry that is neat and original, you may win a local preliminary prize which Stales" It tells thousands of facts about every state in the Union. It, too, is beautifully illustrated in color.

Five sets of these Scott, Foresman books will be awarded, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry is found to be one of the five nearest among all the local prize winning entries from all the cities where this column is published.

Contest Rules

Enter the contest by counting the watermelon seeds, coloring the picture, then clipping it out and pasting it on paper or a postal card. Print your name, age and address beneath it, along with the total of seeds. Decorate your entry in any neat original way, using paints, crayons or cutouts.

Finally address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow. Winners' names will be published here. They will receive their prizes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

The local prize in today's contest is a set of five tiny tools that, despite their very small size, have moving parts. You can carry them in your pockets as curios, add them to a charm bracelet or add them to a collection of other miniature objects.

Five sets of the tools will be awarded, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry is judged to be one of the five nearest and most original in the Post-Crescent area.

The national prize is a set of three educational books, all published by Scott, Foresman and Company. One book is the "Advanced Junior Dictionary" which contains thousands of word definitions, plus thousands of pictures illustrating the words. Another book is "Everyday Problems in Science" containing much more information of interest to boys and girls who want to know the answers to scientific questions (there are many beautiful color pictures too). Write Draft Of Railroad, Union Rift

Signs Point Toward Action by Congress in Solving Deadlock

BY JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid new signals indicating that only Congress will be able to avert a nationwide rail strike, a special presidential panel today grinds out the preliminary draft of its report on the railroad union showdown over jobs.

The draft will be shown to carriers and union representatives for any additional comments or criticisms before it is put in final form and sent to the White House Friday.

The report, a collection of facts and issues in the four-year dispute, will serve as the basis for the legislation President Kennedy will recommend to Congress on Monday to block the threatened strike.

Tuesday, the chief executives of the members of the Association of American Railroads issued a statement asserting that the union's position in the jobs dispute leaves legislation as the only means of heading off a "calamitous nationwide rail strike."

The statement asserted that management has made "every effort to get the unions' leaders to engage in realistic negotiations" but they "refused to come to grips with make-work practices across the bargaining table."

"We cannot believe government officials, legislators or the public will penalize management in whatever action they take to dispose of this dispute," the statement said.

Asked for comment, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said he thinks both sides should still be bargaining. Previously he blamed both the carriers and the five operating unions for failing to reach an agreement.

Won't Speculate

As in the past, Wirtz declined to speculate on what type of legislation—expected in most quarters to be compulsory arbitration—is under consideration at the White House.

The five unions representing the men who man the trains had no comment on the carriers' charges. But Louis J. Wagner, president of the Independent Conductors Union, and Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the railroads' statement violated a pledge made by both sides not to comment while the presidential panel was making its report.

Congress will have until July 29 to produce legislation to avert a strike.

Last week the rail industry agreed to postpone until then initiation of its new work rules that will gradually eliminate 60,000 jobs it claims are unnecessary. The five unions which contend the jobs are required for safe and efficient train operations, similarly agreed to hold back strike action until July 29.

Haukedahl to Seek Police Chief's Post

Believes Milwaukee Hoodlums Trying to Move Into Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP) — Stanley G. Haukedahl said Tuesday that he will seek reappointment as police chief and that he is convinced Milwaukee hoodlums have been trying to move into Kenosha.

Haukedahl said in an interview that Milwaukee criminal elements apparently have been directing jobs and a major gambling operation from a restaurant in Kenosha for more than a year.

In saying he will file a regular application with the Fire and Police Commission, Haukedahl said, "I think I did a good job as chief in the past and I know I will make a better chief as a result of the recent personal tragedy I went through."

He referred to the slaying of a police department stenographer, Mrs. Dorothy Bitautis, a 46-year-old widow, by his estranged wife, Helen, also 46. Mrs. Haukedahl was acquitted of a murder charge by reason of insanity and has been confined to a state hospital.

Mrs. Haukedahl said the other woman was "breaking up my home."

Accepted April 10

Haukedahl's resignation was accepted April 10. It was offered after pressure by the mayor and some Common Council members 10 days after Mrs. Bitautis was shot to death in her car. The Fire and Police Commission has set a July 31 deadline for police chief applications.

"A year ago I believed that rumors of outside hoodlums moving into Kenosha were without foundation," Haukedahl said. "But with what I've been told, I've got to believe that they were going to move in here."

He also said the gang-style slaying of jukebox distributor Anthony Biernat, 46, last January was in all probability the result of "outside muscle."

Air-Sea Rescue Team Saves Horse in Mud

BELCHERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — An Air Force air-sea rescue team, trained to save distressed fliers, proved its versatility Tuesday by rescuing a horse.

An 11-year-old mare named Donna, ridden by her owner, Frank Hano of South Hadley, sank up to her neck in a swamp. Unable to free the animal, Hano called the 44th Eastern Air-Sea Rescue Service at Westover Air Force Base, Chicopee.

A helicopter crew was dispatched to pluck the horse from the mud. Tree cover prevented the chopper from moving close to the animal.

More conventional means were then tried. Ropes were tied around the horse and 10 airmen pulled Donna from the mud. She was unhurt.

Texan Attacks Views Supported by Rockefeller on Republican Right

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., views Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's attack on the Republican right as a "divisive statement."

Tower, an avid supporter of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, said Tuesday that Rockefeller has been "taken in" by liberal braintrusts and others who he said want to sow dissension among Republicans.

The New York governor, also considered a leading GOP presidential hopeful, had charged that Goldwater's backers want to write off the big states in the North and East with large Negro populations and try to win with the electoral votes of Southern and Western states.

The House Judiciary Committee has cleared a bill to provide public defenders in federal courts for persons unable to pay for their own defense.

The measure, approved by a voice vote Tuesday, contains some but not all provisions recommended by the Kennedy administration. It includes payments for the defenders of $15 an hour while in court and $10 an hour for work out of court with a maximum of $100 a month.

Two Couples Rescued After Drifting 3 Days On Lake Michigan

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — Two young Chicago area couples were brought ashore by the Coast Guard Monday after having drifted in a crippled boat on Lake Michigan since Friday night.

Another boat found them and the Coast Guard, answering a radio call, towed them in.

They were a little weak from lack of proper food "but otherwise they didn't look too bad," a Guardsman said. They were examined at a hospital here and released.

The four, who set out in a 24-foot rented cruiser to visit friends here, were Jerry O'Connor and his wife, Joan of Chicago; Georgia Borchardt of Northbrook, Ill., and Donald Tadda, Chicago, all in their 20s.

O'Connor estimated they had drifted as far as north of Muskegon and then back before being found.

Triplets Born to Mom On 20th Anniversary

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Lemuel C. Millard celebrated her 20th wedding anniversary in a hospital today after giving birth to triplets.

Mrs. Millard, 39, also has a daughter, 17. The triplets, born Tuesday weighed 3 pounds, 4 ounces; 3 pounds, 9 ounces; and 3 pounds, 1 ounce.

"I had the feeling I was going to have twins," she said. Mrs. Millard said her husband, an electrician, was "downtown buying cigars, blankets, powder and all kinds of things."

Bill to Form Personnel Unit Vetoed

MADISON (AP)—A bill to form a state personnel department outside the Department of Administration was vetoed Tuesday by Gov. John W. Reynolds, who said enactment of the measure would "return Wisconsin to the era of autonomous management employees."

State employees had backed the Republican sponsored measure on grounds it would remove the Personnel Bureau from possible influence by a governor through his control of the Department of Administration.

The governor listed 11 accomplishments of the bureau since it was integrated with the Department of Administration in August of 1959. He said it had improved personnel practices, emphasized employee training, promoted the merit system in local governments, expanded employee opportunities, increased efficiency, improved recruiting practices and emphasized "an aggressive and responsive personnel management program."

He said return of the bureau to independent status would increase the cost of state government.

Kahl said advance payments last July were $2 million, and the total for the July-September was about $15 million.

Vinson Achieves Record for His Service in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and the armed services reaped honors Tuesday on Rep. Carl Vinson, 79, Georgia Democrat who has served in the House longer than anyone else in history.

Vinson broke the record today, according to the calculations of the Library of Congress. He was first sworn in Nov. 3, 1914.

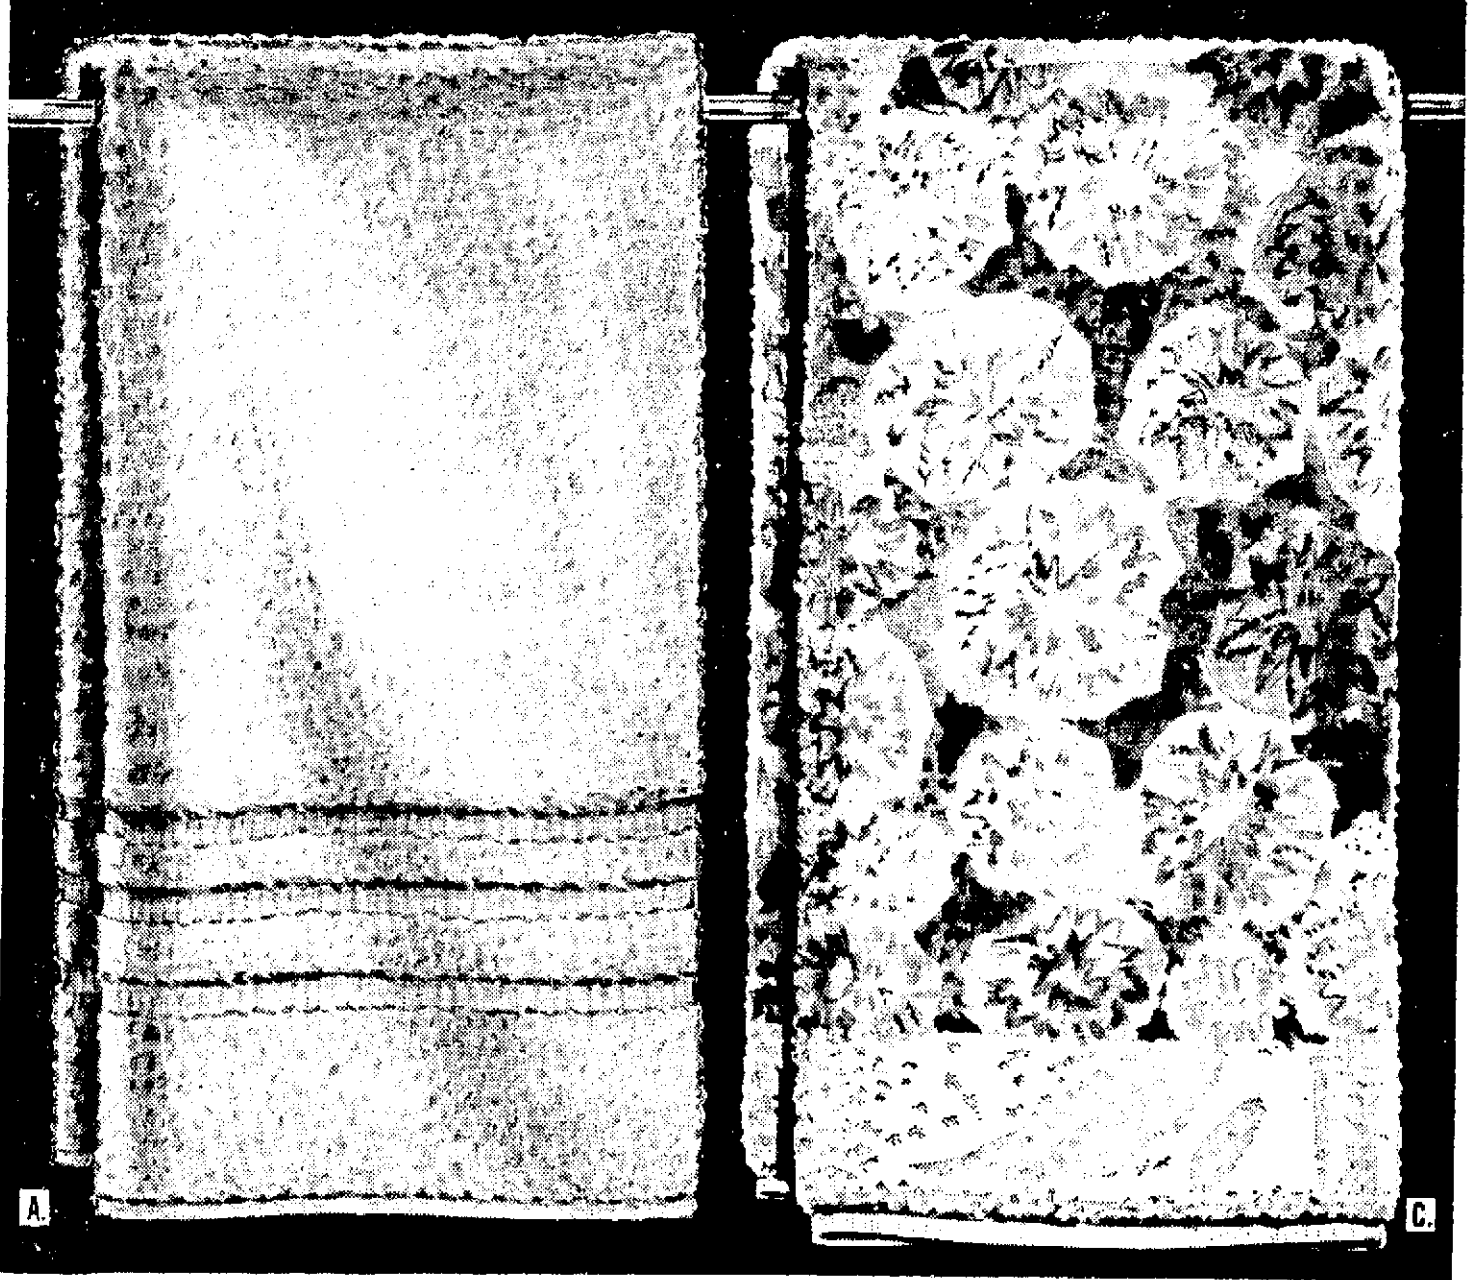

Vinson agreed to only one official celebration — and that reluctantly. The Navy, which had a Marine parade in his honor last evening at the Marine barracks. Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth was the host.

The Air Force did its best. Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert and Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, the chief of staff, dropped in unannounced in the morning with a silver and gleaming wood plaque for Vinson's office as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

He has been chairman of that committee since it was created in 1947, except for two two-year periods when Republicans controlled Congress.

While he is regarded particularly as the congressional father of the big modern Navy, all three services treat him as a powerful friend.

Nearing Completion Is the $1.5 million addition to the Appleton sewage treatment plant located at Weimar Court extended on the far southeast side of the city. The massive construction project, which will give Appleton one of the most modern plants of its kind, will be completed within a month or so. Wilson and Tarrides of Brookfield, Ill., is the general contractor. (Post-Crescent Aerial Photo)

Water Pipeline for Fox Valley Goal of Appleton Board of Public Works Study

Cost Per City to be Less if 8 Cities Agree on Joint Project

Appleton plans to make one last try to interest neighboring Fox Cities and Fox Valley communities in joining it in a Lake Michigan pipeline for an improved water supply.

After hearing detailed plans on the proposed project from a consulting engineer Tuesday, the Board of Public Works voted to have the mayor contact the communities in an official capacity and ask a reply from their governing bodies by Aug. 17 on whether they are interested in the pipeline project.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell will contact officials of Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Little Chute.

The communities were invited several months ago to participate in the project on a cooperative basis and declined to do so.

An Appleton alderman suggested that the board "wants a political answer from their councils and not a technical answer from their water commissions."

The Appleton Water Commission had alternate pipeline proposals prepared which would include up to eight communities in the project. The proposed pipeline will cost an estimated $8.2 million if Appleton goes it alone. An eight-community cooperative project would cost $17.5 million, with Appleton's share at $3.6 million.

Five-Year Idea
The board of public works recommended this spring that the city undertake the pipeline project, which has been under consideration by the Appleton Water Commission for the last five years.

L. R. Howson of Alford, Burdick and Howson, a Chicago engineering firm which specializes in water supply, told the Board of Public Works the $8.2 million pipeline would be adequate for Appleton to the year 2000 with no additional major expenditures requiring a bond issue.

A 40-year revenue bond issue has been proposed to finance the project. The annual cost for interest and amortization would be slightly over $400,000. Howson said, bringing the total payments over 40 years to $16 million.

Water Quality
The justification for the expenditure is primarily water quality, Howson said.

"It would be money well spent,"

3 Become Ill From Eating Unclean Eggs

MENASHA—City Health Nurse Mrs. Catherine Feit today said three confirmed cases of salmonella derby — an intestinal infection caused from eating cracked or unclean eggs — have been reported here.

Several other cases are suspected, she indicated.

The Menasha cases followed by only a few days a warning from the Public Health Service in Washington, D. C., concerning the disease. The health service said: 775 persons in 25 states have been inflicted with the disease. Mrs. Feit this morning said the disease can be contracted from other sources than eggs, particularly through unsanitary conditions.

Not Improve Taste
Going to Lake Winnebago might lower the pollution of the water somewhat but would not improve the taste, Howson said. "Lake Winnebago never will be a good supply," he said.

"If you can't get Neenah-Menasha in now, I don't think you ever will," Howson said when Director of Public Works Robert Bues raised the possibility of Appleton going to Lake Winnebago for water now and undertaking a joint project with the other communities in five to 10 years.

Howson noted that Appleton will profit little by getting Oshkosh in the project and not at all by getting Fond du Lac to join it.

Question Raised
R. D. DeLand, chairman of the water commission, said people have asked why Appleton does not build a 42-inch pipeline rather than a 36-inch line because of a non-negotiating basis.

Mrs. McClanahan New Treasurer of BPW Federation

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Mabel R. McClanahan of Appleton, Wis., was elected treasurer of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs selected officers Tuesday.

Mrs. McClanahan has served as national finance chairman and is a member of the Valley BPW last March by UAW President Club. Mrs. Stelle Brandt is the club's convention delegate.

Also at the conclave are Miss Anita Losli, delegate of the Appleton BPW, and club members, Mrs. Ada Barthule, Neenah, alternate delegate for the Wisconsin State Federation, and Mrs. Polly Zentner, Oshkosh.

The committee was formed as a result of a suggestion made by the Valley BPW last March by UAW President Club. Mrs. Stelle Brandt is the club's convention delegate.

The council adopted the action of the city planning commission and board of public works. Both units met Monday.

Unions at Kimberly-Clark Ratify New Work Contract

3 Per Cent General Wage Increase; Insurance Plan Included in Agreement

Representatives of Kimberly-Clark Corporation and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers and the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers announced jointly today the ratification of a new labor agreement covering approximately 1,600 hourly employees at the company's Neenah mill.

Rufin Skiba, president of Local No. 482, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, and Gerald Otto, president of Local No. 467, United Papermakers and Paperworkers, reported that the memberships of both local unions voted Tuesday to accept the provisions of the new labor contract negotiated by the company and the unions last Friday.

The contract, negotiated during sessions at Chicago and Neenah with Federal Mediator James Despins, averted a strike which threatened as many as five Kimberly-Clark mills.

No Comment
Skiba and Otto said they had no comment to make on the agreement aside from the joint statement issued by the unions and management.

Provisions of the new agreement include a 3 per cent general wage increase, a number of individual job rate adjustments, and several other contract changes, which will be effective retroactive to June 1. Base rates will be $2.25 for men and $2.02 for women under the new contract.

Also included in the new agreement are the revised life insurance plan and understandings on pensions agreed to in a conference in Chicago between the company and the unions. The revised life insurance plan includes acceptance by the unions of the company's new life insurance plan for all new employees hired after Jan. 1, 1962, and also life insurance coverage for present employees prior to age 65.

The unions accepted further reductions in life insurance coverage after age 65, totaling 30 per cent. However, for present employees who retire in the future there will be no employee contribution. This agreement finally resolves the company's life insurance problem.

Provisions of the new company retirement plan, including the provision for automatic survivor's benefit, are not included in the new agreement, and the company and the unions agreed that pensions would not be a subject for bargaining until after Jan. 1, 1968.

The new labor agreement will cover a one-year period extending to June 1, 1964.

Highway Toll Stands at 414
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of Jackson County man in a tractor accident has raised the 1963 Wisconsin highway toll to 414, compared with 463 on the same day a year ago.

Norris Nelson, 70, of Osseo was killed Tuesday when his tractor overturned in Northfield as he was cutting grass along a town road.

Some hackers of Goldwater killed Tuesday when his tractor overturned in Northfield as he was cutting grass along a town road.

But Laird contended Goldwater "has never backed a regional approach for our party on any issue."

The city of Appleton has received 31 applications for the new post of finance director in the first three days since the position was advertised.

Applicants will be given an examination by the State Bureau of Personnel and interviewed before an appointment is made. Tentative date for the examination is Aug. 24.

Present plans are to make the appointment in time for the new year, to restrict the use of budget, according to Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

Permission Given Town To Restrict Water Use
MADISON (AP)—The Public Service Commission issued an emergency order today authorizing the town of Preble, Brown County, to restrict the use of water if customers do not do so voluntarily.

Mental Tests Ordered for Laborer in Support Charge

An unemployed laborer who has held seven jobs in the three years, was charged Tuesday with failure to support his family after he refused to participate in Appleton's work relief program.

County Judge Gustave Keller ordered David C. Tolley, 24, 309 E. Commercial St., confined to Central State Hospital for a mental examination. Tolley pleaded guilty to non-support after waiving a preliminary hearing in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

Merton Ehrliche, city relief director, told the court Tolley had been offered a work assignment on city projects. They work four days per week and are obligated to use the extra day seeking a job in the office of Asst. Atty. Gen. James Bayorgone where charges Tolley told the court he had been filed. Mrs. Tolley signed the complaint against her husband, weeks and was not able to find the couple has two children, one any. Kaukauna to Meet With Little Chute to Adjust Boundary

Village President Promises Council 'Renewed Cooperation'

KAUKAUNA—Little Chute Village President Paul Kostka told the city council Tuesday night the village attorney renegotiate a contract agreement for 1964.

City Clerk Karl Martzahl read a copy of a letter from Mayor Joseph Bayorgone to the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission asking that the commission provide the city with a detailed map of the city's corporate limits to be used as a guide in preparation of a comprehensive master plan for the city.

Martzahl also read a reply from Eugene Franchett, director of the commission, stating that the commission had no such map, but would prepare them within a year and would prepare the Kaukauna map first.

The Chamber of Commerce asked the council for the authority to close Second Avenue from Main Street to Crooks Avenue and Wisconsin Avenue from Lave Street to Desnoyer Street from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. during sidewalk sales.

CD Plans
The council referred the matter to the public protection and safety committee with the power to act. The committee meets Thursday night.

A letter was read from Michael Gerrits, Civil Defense director, saying all buildings accepted as shelters in the city now are marked, shelter supplies are on the way and water containers are being filled.

Gerrits said warning sirens have been mounted on the Ever-Color building and on Nicolet School. He said after all the sirens in the county are installed and operating, a test will be conducted at noon on the first Saturday of each month for about three months.

Damage Claim
Marlin Hungerford, 1206 Cleveland Ave., filed a claim for $2,502 damage to his home he claimed was due to water backing up in pipelines caused by faulty work on the part of the city. The council referred the matter to the city attorney and the city insurance carrier.

The council filed a letter from Mrs. Ella Berens, 1001 Oviatt St., offering to sell 10 acres of land to the city for $12,000.

Settlement Made In Suit Against Norbert Loerke

A $4,000 slander suit against Norbert Loerke, 1677 W. Butte des Morts Beach Road, Menasha, the former director of the Outagamie County Hospital, has been settled out of court.

The action was brought against Loerke in 1962 by Clarence Dammerich, formerly of 1417 W. Wisconsin Ave., a former employee of the hospital.

Attorneys said the settlement did not include any money, but that "several mutual promises" were exchanged.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell approved the settlement which was filed in the clerk of courts office at the Outagamie County courthouse this week.

Dammerich charged that Loerke used slanderous statements about him while both were employed at the hospital, and that the statements damaged his reputation. Loerke claimed the statements were made by him to county supervisors and other officials in the normal course of his business as superintendent of the hospital.

Loerke resigned his position last November when he was charged with two counts of misconduct in office. Dammerich resigned his position in May, 1962.

Contractor Named For Oshkosh Union

Fond du Lac Firm Low Bidder For Reeve Memorial Building

OSHKOSH—A bid of $527,440 by Charles D. Smith and Son, Fond du Lac, was apparent low bid for general contract work for the addition and alterations to the Reeve Memorial Union at Oshkosh State College.

D-K Electric Inc., Oshkosh, was low bidder at $123,528 for the electrical work; Ronald Gartman Inc., Oshkosh, was the low heating bidder at $93,818; R. Wenzel Company, Appleton, was the low bidder for the plumbing contract at $57,723; and Rhoads Equipment Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., was the low bidder on the food service equipment at $123,528.

Construction on the 60,453 square foot addition is expected to begin soon. Completion is scheduled for Sept., 1964.

New Snack Bar
The Oshkosh architectural firm of Sandstedt-Knoop-Yarbro, architects for the original union, prepared the building design and construction drawings.

The existing building will continue in operation during construction.

The proposed addition will be located at the rear of the present structure and will contain a full basement, full first floor and partial second floor.

On the first floor a new snack bar to accommodate 500 students and a second cafeteria with two serving lines, seating 440 students, fees paid by state college students along with two private dining and operation revenues. No tax monies will be used in this project. Additional kitchen space set.

The expansion will provide facilities to increase the union's programs. It will accommodate approximately 2,000 students per meal in the cafeteria and 4,000 daily customers in the college snack bar.

The union addition is being financed from a federal government Housing and Home Finance Agency loan of $5.5 million to the full basement, full first floor and partial second floor.

At all nine state colleges, the loans will be repaid over a 30 year period by student union serving lines, fees paid by state college students along with two private dining and operation revenues. No tax monies will be used in this project. Additional kitchen space set.

Menasha Mayor May Use Veto In Bike Fight

Officials Argue Over Source Of Financing

MENASHA — The question of whether or not to replace the police department's three-wheeled cycle resulted in the threat of a mayoral veto, a hastily called meeting of the finance committee, and a hassle over parliamentary procedure at the Common Council meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor John Klein's veto threat came after several aldermen stated they thought funds for the cycle should come from this year's contingency fund, a sort of fall-back fund reserved for emergencies.

Klein, who favors purchase of a new cycle, wants to have the funds come out of next year's budget.

Ald. Probst, Hansen, Mielke, and Kemps argued in favor of paying now since the money is available from the contingency fund now, rather than wait until January to pay the bill.

September Delivery

The mayor replied that the cycle would be delivered in September regardless of when payment is made. He said that the money to pay for the storm cleanup program and any expenses for Dutch elm disease control would have to come from the contingency fund.

He estimated cost of the storm cleanup to run $9,000. The estimated cost of the new cycle would be $1,664.99.

There is roughly $16,000 in the contingency fund at present, according to City Clerk Harry Kind.

The hassle over procedure came when Mayor Klein, upon recommendation of City Atty. Richard J. Steffens, ruled that a motion to purchase the cycle with money from the contingency fund was out of order.

In Committee

Steffens stated that the matter had been automatically referred to the finance committee since it had been approved earlier in the meeting as part of the public safety committee report.

"You have to get it out of that committee before the council can act on it," Steffens said.

Members of the finance committee then gathered in the corridor, held a meeting, and recommended what amounted to a re-statement of Probst's original motion.

The committee recommendation was then approved by the council, namely that the bike be purchased with contingency funds.

Police found, on a report by the Rev. Arnold W. Tiefel, 829 Appleton Road, Menasha, extensive damage to the Bethel Lutheran Monday's committee of the whole Church school bus. Three seats in the bus were slashed; the glove present cycle had burned out, and compartment was ransacked and was not worth replacing.

Police Chief Lester Clark told the council Tuesday night that he had received the $1,664.99 quoted earlier in the day, and wanted the authority to order the cycle for Sept. 1 delivery.

The motor in the present cycle can be replaced for the time being, provided the council plans to trade the old cycle in, he added.

They said that employment will be increased by 200 to 225 persons, bringing total employment to about 2,430.

Committee Favors Appeal on Neenah Assessment Cases

Advise Attorney To Seek Ruling Of High Court

NEENAH — The finance committee Tuesday evening recommended that City Atty. Charles Schaller appeal those cases of the seven property assessments ordered voided by Circuit Judge Arnold Cane recently that he felt merit appeal.

In addition, the finance committee decided to allot $300 from the contingency fund to defray expenses involved in the appeal by Schaller. The council will act on the recommendation tonight.

The appeals, if directed by the council, will be made to the State Supreme Court.

Vandals Strike Menasha Homes, Church

MENASHA — Police are investigating a series of acts of vandalism in the city in the past 24 hours. Hit by vandals were residences, industrial plants, and purchased with contingency funds churches.

Police found, on a report by the Rev. Arnold W. Tiefel, 829 Appleton Road, Menasha, extensive damage to the Bethel Lutheran Monday's committee of the whole Church school bus. Three seats in the bus were slashed; the glove present cycle had burned out, and compartment was ransacked and was not worth replacing.

Test of Vote Machine Bill Gets Green Light

MENASHA — The Common Council will request an opinion on the constitutionality of the state's voting machine law, aldermen decided Tuesday night.

A motion by Ald. William Erickson, Third Ward, to petition Winneconne County Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber to seek the opinion from Atty. Gen. George Thompson was passed unanimously.

Erickson had called the bill "a $25,000 assessment for the privilege to vote" at a combination of the whole meeting Monday.

In other business, the council:

- Granted a combination class and referred back to the board of review, saying in his decision that the board should take a closer look at the testimony of the real estate brokers appearing before the board.

Property Land Involved

The lands and their assessments include:

The estate of Paul Strange Sr. 901 E. Forest Ave., Neenah, $61,020 for land, $21,580 for improvements, total, $82,600.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Besser Jr. four parcels of land at 415 E. Wisconsin Ave., $24,560 for land, $27,420 for improvements, total, $52,000.

Dr. R. C. Brown 236 Lake Shore Drive, $7,020 for land, $50,760 for improvements, total, $57,780.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown 527 E. Wisconsin Ave., $13,330 for land, $32,400 for improvements, total, $45,730.

Ann Sharpless 95 Fourth St., $14,370 for land, $9,610 for improvements, total, $24,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jorgensen 411 Clark St., $17,350 for land, $30,650 for improvements, total, $48,000.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gardner 513 Clark St., $17,550 for land, $33,950 for improvements, total, $51,500.

Questions Four Cases

Schaller told the finance committee members Tuesday night he felt that the court had "no jurisdiction to disturb the findings of the board of review."

He pointed out that Judge Cane rather than treating each property separately, handed down one decision on the entire number.

Schaller told the committee that he felt the city should appeal the decision on the Dr. Brown property, the Besser property, the Norman Brown residence and the Strange estate property.

Schaller added that he felt that in some of the other cases a mistake was made by the board and they should not be appealed.

Parkers Were Glad, Aldermen Mad— Too Bad!

MENASHA — It may have been nice while it lasted, but it didn't last long. The early morning parking ban will be valid and enforceable again shortly.

Aldermen Tuesday night threw the ax at the parking ticketing on city streets from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. will be strictly taboo and Steffen's pronouncement that and enforceable. No one said any parking tickets couldn't be given about those who paid fines out legally for violating the ban on cars ticketed last winter.

Seek City Ordinance On Dutch Elm Control

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein this morning said he will ask for municipal legislation to bring the total number in Winneconne County to approximately 25.

The mayor revealed he would seek stricter controls in the city, following a conference at the City Memorial Building with Larry Fenton, tree disease technician for the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture and Vernon Peroutky, Winneconne County Agent, and city officials.

Fenton outlined a 10-point program for combating the disease in the city and urged city officials to adopt portions of it.

The program included the adoption of public meetings to inform citizens of the problem, election of a committee with chairman responsible for control of the disease; adoption of an ordinance as recommended by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, an inventory or survey of municipal trees; an elm sanitation survey and program; a spraying program; a survey for Dutch elm disease symptoms of all elms; send specimens of suspected trees to the state laboratories; removal of all confirmed cases; and spraying of all diseased elms.

Approved mayoral reappointments of John Dachelet and Mrs. John Willerding to the library board, and Mrs. Hayward Biggers and Edward Waskiewicz to the park and recreation board.

Joint Session Sought for Pilot Plant

Twin City Aldermen, Sewer Commission to Discuss Project

MENASHA — A joint meeting will be sought between the Neenah and Menasha Common Councils and the Sewerage Commission to discuss plans for the experimental pilot plant for testing secondary sewerage treatment.

Menasha aldermen moved to ask for the joint meeting after receiving a request from the Neenah - Menasha Sewerage Commission for an $11,500 appropriation as the city's share of the pilot plant construction.

The lowest bid for construction of the miniature plant, which will serve as an experimental model for the new secondary treatment plant, was $23,000.

Mayor John Klein suggested the joint meeting, and Ald. Richard Hansen and Kemps stated their support of the idea.

Ald. Robert Mielke then moved that the money be appropriated immediately. The motion was lost when no one would second it.

Ald. Kemps then moved to plan the joint meeting, and his motion was passed by the council.

Power Plant

The council also voted to accept the low bid of Theo Utchig and Son Construction Co., Inc., Appleton, for construction of the superstructure for the Menasha steam plant addition, their bid of $198,351 being the lowest received.

Also approved was the bid of John Skotzke Concrete Construction Co., Neenah, for curb, gutter, and sidewalk installation on Harding and Grove Streets. The Skotzke bid of $16,672 was the lowest received for the project.

The council adopted agenda items 9-C-2.

And as soon as the signs take their places alongside the "Welcome to Our City" markers at the entrances to Menasha, park the ax at the parking ticketing on city streets from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. will be strictly taboo and Steffen's pronouncement that and enforceable. No one said any parking tickets couldn't be given about those who paid fines out legally for violating the ban on cars ticketed last winter.

Attempt to be Made for Fox Cities Water Line

Neenah and Menasha might want to join it in 10 years.

"I think the time for Neenah-Menasha to make up their minds is now, and I cannot see how they can keep out," Howson said. "But I don't see why, without an agreement, Appleton should commit itself for $1.25 million more."

The estimated cost of the pipeline under a three-city arrangement would be $11 million. Appleton's outlay would be $4.7 million, compared to $3.1 million for Neenah and $3.2 million for Menasha.

Final Solution

Bues said, "I don't doubt for a minute that Lake Michigan is the final solution to Appleton's water problem, but there is a price tag on it." At the present time many of Appleton's problems are jelling, he noted, and different sources give differing population forecasts.

In a waterworks venture, wrongly estimating the population only hastens or extends the time when an increased supply is needed, Howson said. If you overestimate population growth this system will last longer, and if you underestimate it and must build again sooner, the revenue also will be higher and support building, he said.

It is difficult to forecast population growth accurately more than 20 years in the future, he noted. His firm has estimated Appleton's population in the year 2000 at 77,500.

The proposed pipeline would include an intake one mile into Lake Michigan in 50 feet of water, a pumping station at the lakeshore and about 50 miles of pipeline. Provision for chlorination at the lake makes it possible to maintain the carrying capacity of the pipeline indefinitely, Howson said. Without lake-shore chlorination, algae and other growth could adhere to the pipe and decrease the capacity.

The water would be discharged to the present filtration plant. With the better quality water from Lake Michigan, the 13 million gallons a day capacity of the filtration plant could be increased to 20 million gallons without enlarging the plant, Howson said, and chemical costs for water treatment would be reduced substantially.

The engineers also proposed construction of a surface storage reservoir three miles east of Appleton to hold a three to five-day water supply. A 20-acre reservoir 10 feet deep or a 10-acre reservoir 20 feet deep would store about 70 million gallons.

The 36-inch pipeline will carry 17 million gallons a day. Appleton is expected to hit a peak day of 17 million gallons by 1980, Howson said. By using the reservoir, up to 22 million gallons a day could be provided on peak days.

One-tenth Cost

Instead of building a six-inch larger pipeline at an additional cost of $1.25 million, you can build the reservoir for one-tenth the cost and accomplish the same thing, Howson said.

During the recent hot spell Appleton of the lake project is 1965.

Charleston Police Disperse Negroes

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Police dispersed 750 Negroes early today shortly after the first eruption of violence in Charleston's month-long series of racial demonstrations.

Five policemen and a fireman were injured, none seriously, Tuesday night.

A total of 150 Negroes were arrested Tuesday.

Early today, Negroes gathered in front of a Negro Methodist church. Police broke up the crowd because they feared it might march on police headquarters four blocks away.

Ninety-five Negroes were arrested in Tuesday night's demonstration.

Wages of Europe's Inner 6 Nations Show Jump of 10 Per Cent

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Workers of the European Common Market countries saw their wages jump by 10 per cent last year. And unemployment has never been so low, a Common Market report said today.

The report said that although consumer prices increased considerably, somewhat reducing the real value of the wage hikes, wages still showed a very noticeable improvement.

The report expressed concern over an inflationist trend in the six-nation group. It said social policy must be included in Common Market planning to seek a balance between manpower supply and demand.

pleton hit three record peak days of 11.5 million gallons each, 200 per cent of the average day. The present peak capacity is 13 million gallons.

If the Appleton council approves the pipeline project, it will take the reservoir for one-tenth the cost and accomplish the same thing, Howson said.

mission's target date for completion of the lake project is 1965.

Court Asked to End Segregation in Primary Mississippi Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court here — which has been largely responsible for implementing the Supreme Court's 1954 school integration decision — has now been asked to order public school desegregation below the college level in Mississippi.

The appeals court, with jurisdiction over five Southern states and the Canal Zone, has figured prominently in practically every major desegregation case in the South except Little Rock.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, representing the parents of seven Negro children, Tuesday asked the tribunal to order integration in Jackson, Miss., public schools in September.

Tryouts in Progress For Yearly Talent Show

KAUKAUNA—Recreation director James Gertz said Tuesday tryouts are being conducted on all playgrounds for entries in the annual talent show, set for Wednesday July 24.

Categories include vocal, instrumental, pantomime, comedy skit, twirling and dancing. Prizes will be awarded in each group.

Industrials Stage Advance

Dow Jones Average Up .99 at Noon, Now Reads 703.11

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrials advanced in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was livelier than in recent sessions.

Brokers commented that the market seemed to be "acting well" in view of the news that the Federal Reserve Board had boosted interest rates by hiking the discount rate to 3 1/2 per cent from 3 per cent.

The increase itself came as no surprise — although the timing was unexpected.

Motors, steels, electrical equipments and a number of the glamour issues in the photographic and office equipment lines were strong.

Rails and utilities, however, put on a lackluster performance. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .99 at 703.11.

Appleton Man Guilty In Car Parts Theft

Truman A. Montonati, 20, 2007 W. Wisconsin Ave., pleaded guilty Tuesday to theft of car parts from the Appleton Wrecking Co., and is being held in the Outagamie County jail for pre-sentence investigation.

County Judge Gustave Keller ordered sentencing for July 29. The thefts occurred over a period of time and totaled about $125.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 260.1 with industrials up .6, rails unchanged, and utilities off .2.

Chrysler, up nearly a point, resumed its comeback from recent profit taking. Ford, General Motors and Studebaker leaned to the upside. Small gains were made also by the leading steels.

United Fruit lost a fraction. Tobaccos were soft.

Lila Anderson 'Kind Lady' in Attic Drama

Jack Swanson Also Has Lead Role in Play of Suspense

Two acting veterans of the area theater scene, Lila Anderson and Jack Swanson, play the leads in Attic Theatre's next summer production of the season.

The play is the three-act, light suspense drama, "Kind Lady," written by Edward Chodorov from the original story by British author Hugh Walpole.

"Kind Lady" opens at 8:15 p.m. Saturday for an eight-night run in the arena theater of the Lawrence Music-Drama Center. Curtain times are 8:15 p. m. except for the two performances at 7 p. m. and 9:30 Saturday, July 27. There are no performances Monday or Friday.

Mrs. Anderson is a familiar stage figure to Attic theatergoers. She played the lead role of Billie Dawn in "Born Yesterday" and performed in both "Majority of One" and "City of Light," the latter play by Attic member James Auer. She also was seen in "The Tender Trap" production of the Oshkosh Community Theatre.

Plays Aging Spinster As Mary Herries in "Kind Lady," Mrs. Anderson portrays a kindly, aging spinster who becomes the helpless victim of an unscrupulous gang.

Playing opposite Mrs. Anderson is Jack Swanson, perhaps best remembered for his college work as the young man in "The American Dream" and young Nat Miller in O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness."

He also played a leading role in the Appleton High School musical production of "Annie Get Your Gun" and appeared in Attic's "Picnic" last season.

Other long-time Attic workers in the cast include designer and actor Gary Fustfeld, Mrs. Frieda McCarter, Kathy Fourness and William Cherkasky.

Eight newcomers are new to Attic Theatre, but many of them are not new to theater work.

Jerome Martin, who enacts the role of the doctor in league with the gang in "Kind Lady," has performed in several productions of the Green Bay Community Conservatory of Music.

Theatre and the Beloit Circle. Other newcomers in the show are Bernard Rutsch of Black Creek, Mrs. Don C. Smith, Mrs. Frederick Meissner, Daniel Baer, who has returned to Appleton after a 10-year absence, played the role of Buttercup in the Appleton Carol Vandenberg and Mrs. H.M.S. John R. Young.

Under a Musical Spell are Hayley Mills, Burl Ives and Deborah Walley, three stars of the Walt Disney movie, "Summer Magic," currently playing at the Viking Theater. Co-starring with them are Dorothy McGuire, Eddie Hodges and Peter Brown.

Disneyland Success Difficult to Match

Walt Disney Adds Top Dance Bands for Teen-Age, Adult Entertainment at Night

BY JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Every body, including Nikita Khrushchev, will admit that Disneyland is the most successful operation of its kind in the world.

Since its opening eight years ago, many imitators have tried to match its formula—and failed. It's hard to put the finger on the secret of the Disney magic, but maybe this will help.

A few years ago, the bankers time at night.

Walt turned Disneyland into one of the swiftest night life spots anywhere. He did it the hard way—no booze.

On the Mark Twain riverboat, New Orleans, a real old-time New Orleans jazz band, Youngest member of the group is 53. Oldest is the legendary Johnny St. Cyr, 79-year-old banjoist.

Another kind of Negro rhythm—strictly authentic—is shouted by the Ward Singers, a gospel singing clan led by Mother Gertrude Ward.

For the teen-agers there's Kay and the Spaceman, a wild Mexican and even an authentic brass band. It costs Disney about $250,000 per summer season and the el-lis all free with the price of admission.

fashion. He upped the closing hours to midnight, later on weekends.

"If only nine per cent of our visitors are coming in after five p.m.," he reasoned. "Then we're gearing ourselves too much for the kiddies. I decided to look for entertainment for the teen-agers and the adults who like a good swinging night life."

Measure Would Change Electoral System of U. S.

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate adopted an Assembly resolution Tuesday asking Congress to amend U.S. constitutional provisions governing the election of president and vice president.

The resolution calls for abandonment of the present method of casting a state's electoral vote. Presidential candidates who get the largest popular vote in a state now receive that state's entire electoral vote.

The change requested in the resolution would have the electoral vote divided to reflect the percentage of the popular vote each candidate received.

New legislation introduced included a bill co-authored by Jer-

Richard Leonard, R., Milwaukee, and Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee. The legislation would create a division of criminal investigation in the attorney general's office. The division would be directed by an assistant attorney general, and he would have a staff of five investigators.

Repeats Get All Air Time On TV Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Wagon Train repeats "The Lisa Raincloud Story," a good episode about a romance between Hawks (Terry Wilson) and an Indian princess (Dana Wynter), doomed, all viewers will know, by the first commercial, Miss Wynter, a half-breed, hates all white men. Then Wilson is captured by the tribe.

6:30-8 (Channel 4-5) — The Virginian repeat begins by sending charming con man Steve Forrest into Medicine Bow where he sets up a swindle. Midway there is a run on the bank, whose assets he was after, so he switches swindles. (Color)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11) — Going My Way repeats an episode with a bit of muscle, James Whitmore, contributes a good performance as an agnostic doctor who runs up against two spiritual foes in Gene Kelly and Leo G. Carroll.

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Kraft Mystery Theater repeats "The Fugitive Eye," an old-fashioned suspense story given two previous airings on Premiere. Charlton Heston stars as an English circus strongman who sees a murder. The murderers see him and the chase is on.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Eleventh Hour repeats a good portrait of a chronic gambler. Cliff Robertson is the man, a bright advertising executive in the daytime, but a rotten poker player at night.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Naked City repeats a skimpy story about method actors. Much of the hour is devoted to watching Richard Basehart and Barbara Barrie conduct a class.

9-10 (Channel 2) — "The Sound of Violence," a repeat on the Circle Theater, is a grim view of the mob's take-over of the juke-box industry.

Don't Bribe Children To Make Them Behave

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: I don't want to cause friction when my daughter with her three small children visits me next month. The oldest, 4, doesn't mind too well. So in order to get him to behave, I promise I'll give him something that he likes. Then my daughter bawls me out and says that I'm bribing him and that this is wrong. So will you please give me your advice so I can make the children understand that they should behave and mind?

MRS. M.C.

Stop the children from doing things you don't want them to. Pick them up and take them away from trouble if necessary. And insist they do the things you want them to do, taking them by the hand if necessary. If you make sure you aren't asking them to do you favors, they'll probably cooperate most of the time. Paying them for good behavior only breeds confusion, just as your daughter wisely says.

Dear Eve Jones: My 19 month old daughter used to be a wonderful eater, but not lately. She just wants milk or other liquids and sweets I cut out all sweets, but no luck. She might be interested for a few spoonfuls but that's it. All this food is wasted. She is cutting two molars.

Could this be the trouble? If so, why can she eat cookies hard as the rock of Gibraltar but not a peanut butter sandwich?

MRS. B.L.

She's probably going through a period of little growth, so her body only needs fuel for immediate spending in activity—that's most easily gained from sweets.

Also, her gums are probably tingling where the teeth are erupting, and warm, soft foods that require chewing, not crunching, increase the "itch."

For the time being, keep her foods crisp: bacon, carrots and celery. Apples and pears, and crackers should keep her happy. If you don't make a fuss, you

Danger, Exhaustion Accompanied U. S. Climber to Top of Everest

BY PAULS WELLS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Suddenly 50 tons of snow broke loose from an overhanging cornice at Mt. Everest's summit and Jim Whitaker found himself "looking down between my feet at Tibet—10,000 feet below."

The moment was one of mortal danger for the first American conqueror of the world's highest peak, but Whitaker did not slip and his Sherpa companion, Nawang Gombu, was unaware of what had happened.

Gombu, roped to Whitaker 50 feet away as they began their descent, failed to hear the great roar of the falling cornice because of 90-mile-an-hour winds. And he was too intent on his work to notice what had happened.

Recalls Climb
Relaxing at home, the 34-year-old, 6-foot-5 inch Whitaker talked with pride and a touch of wonder about the consuming drive that sent him fighting to the top of Everest almost against his will and the constant threat of death.

For more than a month before the final push Whitaker and several of the others had been above 21,500 feet.

"You just don't stay up there that long," he said. "Nobody's stayed that high that long before. You get weaker and weaker as you deteriorate.

"No matter how much you eat, you lose weight."

Just Waited

Whittaker said the urge was to return to the base camp and recuperate for another start, but problems of time and logistics weighed against it.

"So we just sat up there, with storms swirling around, and waited."

The psychological tricks a height of more than four miles play on the mind proved the biggest problem.

Fights Himself

"Things become much more of an effort," Whitaker said. "Putting on your boots or crampons takes a long time. You get frustrated and irritated."

"A storm would come along and I'd think 'What the hell am I doing on this mountain?'"

"But you have to keep pulling yourself together and realize that you're up here for a great goal. It's just a matter of building up your drive again."

Motivation

"Finally, we decided that if we didn't try in the next four or five days we'd never make it. I felt the whole team effort hung on me. I had motivation."

So on April 27, he and Gombu set out for the top.

"We committed ourselves."

Whittaker said he was then in his weakest condition, but he pushed over the ice "just soft enough to kick steps in" taking five breaths to every step.

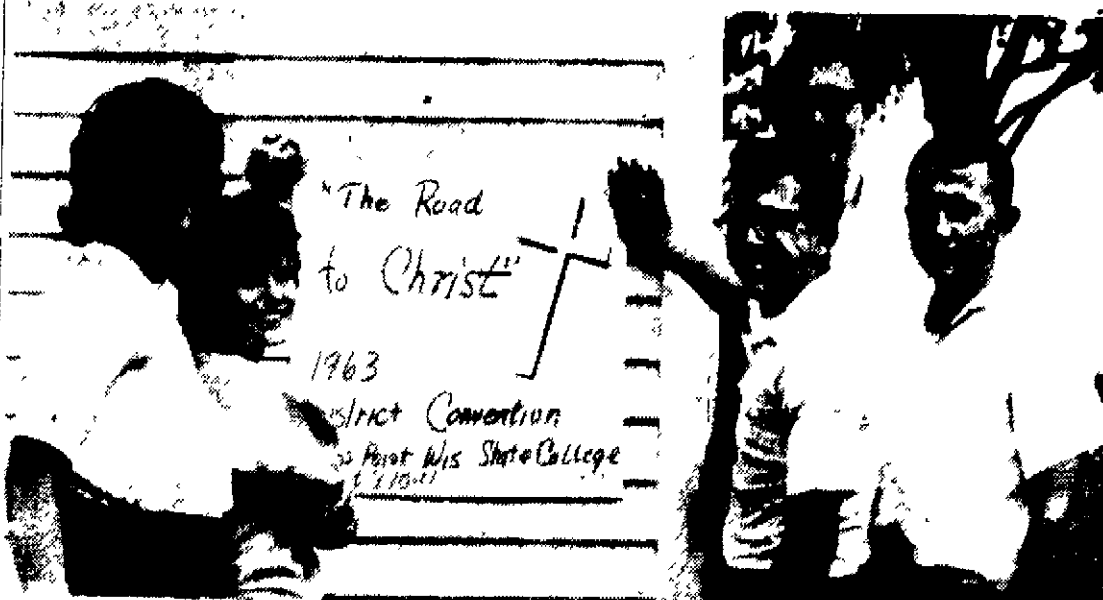

Final Assault

About two days later he and Gombu had their equipment at Camp 6, at 27,300 feet, and everything was ready for the final assault.

At 6 a.m. May 1 they drank a breakfast of hot gelatin and started off. Seven laborious hours later they were at the top.

On the way, 400 feet below the south summit they found a small metal box "just sitting there on a rock." Inside was a St. Christopher's medal, a rosary and a crucifix, given to a climber in a 1962 expedition by a priest at Matmandu, Nepal.

Whittaker said he was "very exhausted" when he reached the top but found his strength returning after a five minute rest. He and Gombu remained there 20 minutes

The First Summer Picnic for the young people in the Valley of Rivers Zone held at Zion Lutheran Church, route 1, Fremont, posted signs for the future activities of the Walther League. pinched down by the howling gale, reached an oxygen tank left on the way up.

Whittaker's brush with death. "I grabbed the tank and took a few big breaths. Whittaker said

They continued to Camp 6. "It's almost like vomit, sort of a coming weakness is good for reaching the limit. By reaching the limit, you change yourself mentally. You change yourself."

For 3 1/2 hours Whittaker and Gombu gasped down the precipitous slope, covering less than a quarter of a mile, before they reached the heights.

Quality of Mail Drops As Our Age Increases

BY HAL BOYLE

Age and volume seem to have an adverse effect on the quality of the stuff the postman brings.

When young you don't usually get much mail. So scarcity makes it equally interesting — whether it is a scented envelope from a pretty stenographer you met on a vacation visit or a rejection of your enlistment in the Peace Corps.

As the years pile on, the mail piles up. The more mail you get, the less there's worthwhile in it.

One of the things you find out about mail as you grow older is that, after you leave college, very, very few people in this world send you money in a letter.

They will ask you to send them money in a letter, but they won't send it to you.

Now and then you might catch the government people off guard and get them to send you a tax refund by mail — but that happens more and more seldom as you grow older, too.

The nature of a man's mail seems to be determined largely by his age bracket.

A young businessman at the start of his career is flooded with invitations to borrow from loan agencies, subscribe to naughty art magazines, and join keen groups of guys and gals in a gay, mad vacation by camel and water ski across the Sahara Desert.

As his stomach thickens and his hair thins, he gets more "family-type mail."

This consists of invitations to buy encyclopedias that will save his children from growing up dull-like himself, retirement plans that will enable him to live in riotous orgies after 65, and notes from the bank saying that if he doesn't make another mortgage payment he'll come home some night from work and find his wife and kids sitting on the sofa in the sidewalk in the rain.

Belgium to Withdraw Troops From Germany
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Defense Ministry has decided to withdraw some of its NATO troops from Western Germany and station them in eastern Belgium. These troops will nevertheless remain committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The decision involves four battalions. The ministry said the decision was taken to improve contacts between the Belgian army and the country.

Industry Unprepared for Possible Economic Effects of Disarmament

BY JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — American industrialists are thinking about the possible effects of disarmament on the economy but aren't doing much about it.

Some think an end to the arms race is a pipe dream. Others believe there is a chance of reality.

U.S. Disarmament Administrator William C. Foster recently told businessmen: "It is not too early for the private sector to begin serious consideration of how to use effectively the resources released by disarmament."

Conceding there is little evidence that the Soviet Union is ready to abandon the cold war, Foster added: "but if and when they do, it would behoove us to be adequately prepared on the all-important economic front — prepared psychologically as well as physically to make the economic adjustments such a transition would require and which are within our means to carry out successfully."

An Associated Press survey of leading companies engaged in the defense program indicated executives feel the likelihood of disarmament is so remote that it isn't necessary to draw definite plans now.

AP Survey
Most seemed agreed that if disarmament does come it will be possible to shift production from weapons to consumer goods without causing a depression.

Some whose companies are engaged in work for space exploration envision an acceleration of this phase of production, now lumped with the defense program.

A spokesman for the Garrett Corp. of Los Angeles said, "We consider total disarmament a pipe dream even if something happened to the Russians. Consequently, we anticipate that we will always have a substantial amount of military business."

Roy Marquardt, president of Marquardt Corp., another Los Angeles company engaged in defense work, said its firm is conducting long-range studies to determine the market potential of private business.

Not Pipe Dream
"As these large defense expenditures to other purposes without visibly affecting our over-all economy," he said.

William E. Zisch, president of Aerojet-General Corp., said the possibility of disarmament "is definitely not a pipe dream; it is a matter of realistic possibility and our planning takes this into account."

He said that in the last two or three years, most Aerojet-General expenditures for new facilities have been in support of non-defense programs.

Could McDonnell Aircraft Corp., Missouri's largest employer with 30,000 workers, get along on a civilian basis? Chairman James B. McDonnell thinks so.

"Management here is constantly on the alert for expansion opportunities in nondefense and non-military industry," he said. "But our main job is to make aircraft, spacecraft, and even if a disarmament agreement is reached there will still be a need for those two products."

Too Busy

Executives of the two largest holders of defense contracts in the Dallas-Fort Worth area—General Dynamics Corp. and Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc. — said they have been too busy to give serious thought to detailed planning for converting to civilian production.

"We recognize that in the event a workable disarmament agreement can be established between the Western countries and the Soviet bloc, a major impact will be felt in the defense industry of this country," said Clyde Skeen, executive vice president of Ling-Temco-Vought.

"In our long-range plans we keep this possibility in mind. However, in view of present international tensions, we have not found it necessary to draw up a specific detailed plan which can be put into effect immediately."

J. J. Minton, manager of long-range planning for General Dynamics, thought transition to civilian production would be a complex problem — "much more so than at the end of World War II when there was a large deferred demand for consumer goods and a company could find a market for anything it decided to make."

Philco Spokesman

A spokesman for Philco Corp. of Philadelphia said, "We have been thinking about the conversion problem and we do have some contingency plans. We are also attempting to develop commercial markets for many of our government products and to utilize advanced technology in commercial and consumer products."

SPURIOUS DEALS FOR MAIL ORDER-MINDED ARE FLOURISHING; SO BEWARE

DEAR CY:
I don't have so much work in the summer and am thinking of getting into mail order. If a reader like "Less Handicapped" who is handicapped can go from factory work to mail order, it's for me. I am in the process of buying some catalogues for remailing to friends and prospects. Know anything about this type of deal?

GRASS GREEN:
Those rank weeds, spurious deals for would be mail orderers, constantly flourish in the U.S. One is the sugar-coated drop ship plan, which you refer to. For a fee, the tenderfoot is "approved" for purchase of catalogues for remailing. He pays cash (extra) for the catalogues with his name printed on them. He pays for the postage and for use of mailing lists.

Money resulting from orders following mailing, is sent to the drop ship house, less the neophyte's commission. Merchandise is then shipped direct to the customer. These catalogues are usually shabbily produced and feature a galaxy of overpriced, out-of-date, and shopped-around merchandise.

"Less Handicapped," the reader who turned to mail order after losing both legs, was not working on this type of scheme. He sleuthed his own items, sold and mailed them himself.

DEAR CY:
As a teen-ager, I was told to deal only with an insurance company licensed in my state. I have been getting more and more enticing circulars advertising out-of-state insurance companies. Would it be wrong for me to deal with an insurance company located in a different state?

UNDERINSURED

DEAR UNDERINSURED:
Every state has its insurance commission or similar watchdog department. There is nothing wrong with dealing with out-of-state headquartered insurance firms . . . so long as your state commission has licensed them to do business in yours. An insurance company, chartered in another state, isn't necessarily licensed in your state. The rub in dealing with a non-licensed insurance company comes in disagreement over claims. If you have trouble with such a company, you have no recourse to your own state insurance department. This can become sticky. You might have to sue in the state in which the non-licensed insurance company resides.

DEAR CY:
I am running for a local union elective office and I need a speech on approach to the membership of our local. I have all the qualifications for the post, but I have to sell myself in a talk.

NO SPEAKER:
The eloquent Winston Churchill said a paramount rule for speechmaking is to be humble. Begin by thanking your union for the opportunity to present your case. Perhaps you can kick off with a joke in good taste to loose up the listeners. Tell about yourself, but interweave the benefits you can bring to the organization. Use members' names and personal anecdotes to prove points. Be natural. Be brief and don't lose sight of what you can do for the other guy. During the last election, the Republicans and Democrats ran similar-appearing, full-page ads in a national magazine. Each carried a large picture of the party candidate. The Republican ad featured Richard Nixon and a statement of what can be done for the country on an international basis. The Democrats' ad featured the face of Jack Kennedy above the statement he was interested " . . . in in you." Maybe the "you" ad didn't swing the election, but it helped.

Packer Newcomer Fleming. Resembles Sonny Liston

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Awesome Sonny Liston, currently a 3-1 favorite to chill Floyd Patterson for a second time five days hence, may not know it, but the heavyweight champion has a king-sized "double" in the Packers' now bulging training camp.

And knowledgeable railbirds are quoting similar odds on the giant newcomer's chances of crashing the world champions' roster.

Some three inches taller and 15 pounds heavier than Sonny but a strong look-a-like, he is Utah University product, Marv Fleming, the Pack's No. 1 draft choice last December who is making a serious bid for a flanker assignment.

At the moment, he is contending the incumbents Max McGee, Boyd Dowler and Gary Barnes, (who reported yesterday afternoon and evening with the balance of the veterans), "returnee" Bob Jeter, and another promising rookie, Fresno State's Jan Barrett, among others, for a niche among Lombardi's final 37.

Not Satisfied
Although he has been impressive since he first appeared in the Packer camp for his physical examination Sunday night—then by the sheer impact of his heroic

In other matches, three-time champion Mrs. Marilyn Williams opposed Mrs. Jay Greene of Cambridge, Louise Gammell of Milwaukee met Mrs. Rita Houston of Green Bay, and Mrs. Polly Erickson, the Madison city champion, played Sally Kloppenburg of Milwaukee.

JANESVILLE (AP)—Mary Beth Nienhaus, 20-year-old surprise medalist of the 51st annual Wisconsin Women's Golf Tournament, lost her first round match today to Louise Gammell of Milwaukee, 3 and 1.

Defending champion Carol Sorenson of Janesville shot the best golf of the day in putting out Kathleen Curran of Antigo, 6 and 4.

In other first round matches, Mrs. Frank Kimball of Lake Delton defeated Mrs. Earl Newman of Milwaukee 2 and 1; Mrs. Marilyn Williams of Milwaukee defeated Kathie Bonner of Port Washington, 2 and 1; Mrs. Jay Greene of Cambridge defeated Linda Puls of Milwaukee, 6 and 5; Mrs. Rita Houston of Green Bay defeated Mrs. Richard Welch of Madison, 3 and 2; Mrs. John Erickson of Madison defeated Mrs. Esther Swenson of Stoughton, 2 and 1; and Sally Kloppenburg of Milwaukee defeated Mrs. Ben George of Beloit, 6 and 5.

NEW YORK (AP)—Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, has been cleared and the many-faceted investigation of gambling in pro football finally has ended after six long months.

The net results of the probe by Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, were:

1. Green Bay's Paul Hornung and Detroit's Alex Karras were suspended indefinitely for betting on games.
2. Detroit's John Gordy, Gary Lowe, Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker, and Sam Williams each was fined $2,000 for betting on the 1962 title game.
3. The Detroit club was fined $4,000 for failing to keep a closer check on its players and permitting unauthorized individuals to sit on the bench.
4. Rosenbloom was cleared of accusations, later repudiated, that he bet on league games while an owner. Rozelle held the charges "unfounded."

There never was any evidence that any player ever bet against his own team or sold information to gamblers.

Legal Proceedings
When Rozelle announced his original findings, April 17, he said the Rosenbloom matter had been delayed because of legal proceedings involving the owner of the Colts. He said the investigation would be completed in the near future. However, it was not until almost three months later that he finished.

It was pointed out in Rozelle's announcement Tuesday that two separate matters of private litigation involving Rosenbloom and one or more of his original accusers have been resolved. The most recent, an insurance case, was dismissed in Rosenbloom's favor June 28.

All three of the men who charged Rosenbloom with betting on pro football games during a period eight to 10 years ago subsequently repudiated or withdrew their accusations. Rozelle saw fit to quote from one affi-

Score Five Times in The Seventh

DUBUQUE, Ia. — Fox Cities exploded for five runs in the seventh inning and went on to a 7-4 victory over Dubuque here Tuesday night. It ended the Foxes' losing streak at five.

The Foxes return tonight to open a homestand with Cedar Rapids.

The Foxes had scored first with a lone marker in the first inning on a single by Bob Townsend, a fielder's choice, an error, and a passed ball.

Dubuque came back to tie the count in the bottom of the first before going into a 2-run lead in the third on singles by Jerry Schrock and Gary Oring, a double by Paul Dicken, and an infield out.

May Singles
Townsend started the Foxes' activity in the seventh with a walk. Dave May singled and the runners moved to second and third on the throw-in, from where they scored on Ron Stone's single.

Rex Peters singled home Stone and then trotted home on Chuck Embrey's sacrifice fly to left. Embrey played his fifth position of the season when he started the game at shortstop.

Bob Lewandowski, who was moved back to his regular position at third base, scored the final run in the seventh when he doubled, stole third, and scored on an error.

Dubuque pitchers Bob Cerece and Frank Cardwell fanned five Foxes in the final two innings.

Paul Campbell started and went into the ninth for the Foxes before needing relief from Jim Barrier. Campbell picked up his third victory in 11 decisions.

Koufax Fires Ninth Consecutive Win as Dodgers, Phils Split

Cardinals Nudge Reds, Take Over Third Place

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A brilliant left-handed pitcher sparking a pennant drive and a rangy slugger on a club in the throes of a critical slump continue as the hottest items in the National League.

They are, of course, Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants.

Both starred again Tuesday night in doubleheader splits.

Koufax fired his ninth straight victory and 16th of the season at Philadelphia, going six perfect innings and finishing with a six-hitter in a 5-2 victory. The Phils rebounded against the first-place Dodgers in second game, romping 10-2 with a 12-hit attack led by Johnny Callison.

McCovey belted a homer in each game at Pittsburgh, extending his hitting streak to 21 games and his homer total to 23. He won the opener 3-2 with a two-out homer in the ninth inning. Then the Giants dropped the second game, 3-2, falling into fourth place with the seventh loss in their last nine games.

Squeeze Bunt
Chicago's runner-up Cubs edged to within 5½ lengths of the top, taking Milwaukee 1-0 on a four-pitcher shutout and Ken Hubbs' homer. St. Louis moved into sole possession of third, nipping Cincinnati 5-4 on a 10th-inning squeeze bunt by Tim McCarver and Bobby Shantz's fine relief pitching. New York's last-place Mets clipped Houston 4-3, with a ninth-inning run in the other NL game.

Koufax, gunning for his fourth straight shutout and 10th of the season, was aided by a 10th-inning error by the Phils.

Stu Miller Saves Another Victory For Oriole Staff

Washington Stops Chisox, 3-1; Drabowsky Pitches Shutout

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief specialist Stu Miller, believed to have lost his mound magic a year ago, is up to his old tricks and breathing new life into the Baltimore Orioles' American League pennant aspirations.

The Butterfly Man, who earned his nickname because of the way he confounded National League batters with his tantalizing low curves, was traded to Baltimore last winter by the San Francisco Giants who palmed him off as all washed up.

This error in judgment may have cost the Giants a second straight championship. Little Stu has never been better.

Now in his 11th year in the big leagues, the 34-year-old right-hander is still befuddling enemy batters and bailing out his teammates with spectacular rescue work.

Miller came through with another clutch relief performance Tuesday night helping Milt Pappas and the Orioles sew up a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. It was his ninth emergency call in the last 14 days and his seventh save in that span, during which he was credited with one of the 10 Oriole victories.

Half Game Behind
The triumph boosted the Orioles to within one percentage point of fourth place Minnesota and just half a game behind the second place Boston Red Sox, who trail the front-running New York Yankees by six.

In other American League games, Kansas City bombed Boston 11-0, Washington defeated Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles nipped Cleveland 2-1. Rain washed out the Yankee-Twins contest in Minnesota, halting play while the league leaders were at bat in the second inning.

Baltimore, back in stride after losing 22 of 30 earlier in the campaign, slammed four home runs to thwart Detroit's Frank Lary in his comeback bid. Boog Powell, Jim Gentile, Brooks Robinson and Bob Johnson hit the homers.

Miller relieved Pappas in the eighth and eased out of a bases-loaded jam at the expense of only one run that cut Baltimore's lead to 3-2. He struck out Rocky Colavito and ended the inning by striking Billy Brulon on a slow roller.

It was his 42nd relief appearance, most in both leagues, and his 15th save. He also has won three.

Moe Drabowsky pitched the shutout for the Athletics who bombed Boston pitching for 15 hits. The veteran right-hander permitted the Red Sox only four hits for his first victory of the season and first Kansas City shutout since May 17. Drabowsky helped his cause with a home run and a two-run single when his teammates jumped on loser Dave Morehead for five runs.

Sparks Rally
Ken McBride pitched a three-hitter against Cleveland for his 10th victory and sparked the Angels' winning rally in the third with a double that led to their two runs against loser Jim Grant. It was the fourth straight loss for the Indians. It was the first time the Angels had beaten Grant since Aug. 12, 1961.

Another who combined timely hitting with good pitching was Senator southpaw Claude Osteen who turned back the White Sox with four hits and chipped in with a single during a three-run second inning rally against Juan Pizarro.

All Washington runs were unearned. With two out and a man on first, catcher Camilo Carreon dropped Chuck Cottier's pop foul. Cottier then walked, Osteen singled in the tying run and Marv Breeding followed with a triple sending home the decisive runs.

year, retired the first 18 Phils in order as the Dodgers built a 5-0 cushion. But Tony Taylor nipped Koufax for a leadoff double in the seventh and eventually scored on Tony Gonzalez's sacrifice fly for the first run off the star lefty in 34 innings. Doubles by Don Hoak and Earl Averill gave the Phils another run in the eighth.

The Dodgers got their five runs and 12 hits off loser Art Mahafey and Chris Short, with Wally Moon socking a homer and Jim Gilliam two doubles.

Callison walked two homers and two singles in the second game, which the Phillies wrapped up with three runs in the first off Nick Willhite and four more in the third against Ed Roebuck. Dallas Green went the distance for Philadelphia.

McCovey, who has totaled 14 homers during his 21-game hitting string, connected in the top of the ninth in the opener at Pittsburgh against Don Cardwell. Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda also homered for the Giants as they ended the Pirates' winning streak at five.

McCovey sent San Francisco off winging in the second game with a first-inning homer, and tied it at 2-2 with a run-scoring single in the third. But the Pirates got the clincher in the fifth on Bill Virdon's triple and Roberto Clemente's single. Don Schwall was the winning pitcher, with Al McBean again providing strong relief, and Jack Sanford lost his fifth in a row.

Homers by Curt Flood and Ken Boyer helped the Cards to 2-0 and 4-1 leads at Cincinnati. But the Reds drew even in the eighth at 4-4 and it stayed that way until St. Louis rallied against Joey Jay. Bill White started it with a double, took third on Charlie James' single, then came in on McCavey's squeeze bunt.

Shantz allowed only one single in 3-1-3 innings, striking out eight of the 10 men he retired. Jay, the Reds' 21-game winner in each of the past two seasons, now is 4-14.

The Mets overcame the Colts in the ninth on a leadoff single by Rod Kanehl, a pickoff try by Hal Woodeshick that went wild, and Norm Sherry's pinch single.

NEW LONDON — Waupaca retained its hold on first place in the Southern Division of the B.A.B.A. Sunday by defeating Weyauwega, 12-3. In the other regular divisional game, Ed Algiers drove in the winning run in the 10th inning as New London downed Greenville.

Hortonville drew a bye and played an oldtimers game. The oldtimers coming out on the short end of a 9-0 score.

In the win over Weyauwega, Waupaca piled up a 4-run lead in the first inning on a pair of doubles by Gary Davis and Dick Weed, both extra base blows scored two runs. Gary Grossman blasted a double in the third scoring Weyauwega's first run. He hit another double in the fifth and scored on a single by Jim Gloeck.

The final Weyauwega run was scored on an error in the seventh. Waupaca added a run in the fifth and in the sixth three runs scored on errors. Two home runs in the seventh accounted for four markers for the hosts. Davis drove his 2-run round tripper 380 feet over the center field fence and Dave Peterson connected for the second homer, also with one man on.

Bob Hanson was credited with the win, and Jack Wohl took the loss.

At New London, Wayne Huebner was credited with the victory over Greenville. Frank Schmelzer took the loss.

A home run was blasted by Jack Ahrens for Hortonville in the oldtimers game. He also pitched the shutout.

proportions—the 6-5, 230 pound Los Angeles native has not been satisfied with his efforts in this direction.

"I don't feel like I've been doing very well," he declared while mopping shower drops from his glistening brow in the Pack's new dressing room Tuesday. He added with an apologetic grin, "psychological block, I guess. But I'm doing the best I can."

His "best" has occasioned more than passing interest, to say the least. He has been catching the ball, both short and long, with admirable facility, once reaching up to pluck an errant aerial with one huge hand, exhibited impressive speed for one of his bulk and blocked with crunching authority in yesterday's pinch blocking drill.

Possessor of a droll sense of humor, Fleming admitted, "I feel good now — I'm with guys of my ability. After those veterans (in most of them hadn't gotten as yet) I don't know how I'll feel," he said.

"These practices," he further volunteered, "are a little different than they were in college — a little harder, shall we say."

And what about college? "I played defense," Fleming quipped with a sly grin. "We only threw on third down."

The former Compton, Calif., high school athlete, who once high jumped 6-5 in a Los Angeles city track meet and finished fourth, has no preference, he was quick to make known, "I don't make any difference," Fleming said, "I just want to play football."

"Compton," he revealed with a modicum of pride, "is the high school that produces all those star athletes."

Like?

Roseboro and Davis

"Like Luis Williams, who broke the world 440 dash record, John Roseboro and Tommy Davis, (Dodger stars), Paul Lowe, fellows like that."

A nine-lettermen at Compton (three each in football, basketball, and track) before restricting himself to football at Utah U., Marv was happy to report there are other Flemings on the ascendancy athletically.

As might be expected, Lombardi accelerated the practice tempo with the arrival of the veterans, all of whom had checked in by deadline, 6 p. m. Tuesday.

A dummy scrimmage spiced the afternoon session, in which most holdovers figured. Among the missing were last season's NFL "player of the year," Jim Taylor, Jesse Whitenton and Willie Wood, who officially reported after practice.

More strenuous activity was scheduled for this afternoon, when all hands were instructed to don pads.

Packer Patter—The trim condition of veterans continued to elicit smiles from Lombardi. . . . with only two exceptions, Ward and Elijah Pitts, all were at, near or under their 1962 playing figures. . . . The jet-like Pitts, who grinned, "I sneaked up on me and it wouldn't come off when I started working out back home in Little Rock," reported at 215 and 195 — both 10 pounds over playing weight of a year ago. . . . Willie conceded he'd have to shed those 10 and Elijah, however, hopes to keep his extra avoirdupois. "I'd like to keep it if I can," he said, "if I can't, I guess I'll just have to resign myself to playing a little lighter."

Appropriately enough, blocking "twins" Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer both sealed 242 pounds following the afternoon drill. "We both played at 253 last season, too," they chuckled, "mountainous Ron Kramer, who performed at 250 in '62, came in at 256 and Ray Nitschke at 235, his playing weight. . . . Max McGee reported, "I weighed 203. That the lightest I've come in at in five years. It scared me."

"Thought I might have TB," Jolting back on his chair, McGee said "this afternoon was the first time I've run since I trotted off the field at Yankee Stadium last winter. But that's all right," he added with his best deadpan delivery. "When the rest of 'em are burned out at the end of the season, I'll still have a lot left."

As the players clumped from the practice field following the afternoon workout, Lombardi called to Willie Davis "What have you been doing, Willie? You look pretty good." Davis grinned and shot back, "Got to stay ahead of you, coach," a response which drew a hearty chuckle from the Packer head man. . . . it was a "good humor day" for defensive ends. . . . Earlier, ex-Los Angeles Ram Urban Henry, rated a leading candidate to succeed Bill Quinlan at right defensive end, quipped, "If I'm going to take Quinlan's place, I'm going to have to act the part." Henry had 81, who managed the Navarino reference to the muscle spasm in baseball team for many years, his back that has troubled him Tuesday morning after a 6- the last three days, facetiously in-mouth illness. Funeral services indicating he, in the Quinlan tradition, would be a frequent visitor to Trainer Bud Jorgensen's day.

Operating table. . . . A practice visitor yesterday was former defensive back John Symank, now port at the Cards Lake Forest, a member of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Patterson Again Packs 'Disguise' in His Bag

BY BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — It wouldn't be fair to say that when Floyd Patterson packed his bags to come to Las Vegas to fight Sonny Liston, he came prepared for defeat.

The ex-world heavyweight champion says he has an equal chance with Liston to regain the title.

"I'm not going to say that I'm going to win," Patterson said. "I'm going to say that I'm going to give Liston a fight he won't forget."

"I'm not going to say that I'm going to win," Patterson said. "I'm going to say that I'm going to give Liston a fight he won't forget."

"I'm not going to say that I'm going to win," Patterson said. "I'm going to say that I'm going to give Liston a fight he won't forget."

But in their Monday night fight, he did bring along his famous disguise of a false beard and mustache in the event he loses "bad."

Boxing fans throughout the world were startled, if not astounded, last September when the fallen champion, hurrying from the scene of his one-round knockout to Liston in Chicago, was discovered driving to his New York home alone and lonely, wearing this weird beard and mustache.

Today, Patterson said he has the same masquerade here. He didn't reveal it; he simply confirmed it, as if putting a false beard and mustache in his gear was just like bringing along an extra pair of socks.

"Yes, I have the beard and mustache; I'm not ashamed of it," Floyd said.

Was it because in the event he loses, he wouldn't want to be bothered by people, by autograph hunters?

"No, not that. But — and I don't think I will lose, or lose badly before. But if I did, I would put it on because I would be ashamed of myself. I would want my friends down there. I would want to cover my face."

No one asked, perhaps in charity to the ex-champion, if he had a premonition of defeat before the first Liston fight, since he has said he bought the disguise before that fight.

Patterson made it clear, however, as far as he was concerned, he does not anticipate defeat in the return bout — or at least, such a quick rout of two minutes, six seconds.

"My chances are just as good as his," he declared.

Patterson was bitter in rebuking intimations that he was suddenly seized with fear and froze in the first Liston fight.

"There are two things I have never done in boxing," he said. "One is dirty fighting. The other is getting scared."

Patterson said he was proud of several facets of his career; one that he was the youngest man ever to win the heavyweight crown, and also the only man to lose and regain the heavyweight championship.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The first regular meeting of June of the Board of Education was held in the Superintendent's Office on Monday, June 10, 1963 at 7:15 p.m.

Present: Messrs. Munro and Heil. Absent: Messrs. Buchman and Schneider.

Motion for approval of the May 27 minutes was made by Mr. Schneider and seconded by Mr. Heil. Carried.

Plat appeared before the Board for the purpose of seeking transportation for kindergarten and primary children who have been assigned to the McKinley Elementary School. It was stated by the Board of Education that no decision could be made until the complete transportation program for the 1963-64 school year could be reviewed.

Mr. Werner presented an insurance program for instructional and non-instructional employees who reach retirement age. The following points were brought out:

1. Would apply to personnel retiring this year and in the future.

2. Without the benefit of being included in the active group, the active group would have to pay double or more for the same protection.

3. The plan may be voided by the active group in the future.

4. The experience of the retired group would be figured separately, so that the active group would know the additional cost to them.

5. Other than clerical work, there would be no additional cost to the Board of Education.

Moscow, Washington Reflect Growing Mood of Optimism

MOSCOW (AP) — American and British negotiators discussed with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko again today the possibility of a ban on testing of nuclear weapons.

It was the third day of the conference, which got off to a buoyant start Monday in Premier Khrushchev's Kremlin office.

Gromyko arrived first at the meeting place, the Spiridonovka Palace. Next came Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, head of the U.S. delegation, and Lord Hailsham of Britain.

A dark thundercloud passed over the palace as the negotiators entered.

Though secrecy surrounds the discussions, there were growing indications that the negotiators are going straight to the test ban issue itself, with other issues brushed aside.

A report from Washington that a close associate of President Kennedy said an American-Soviet nonaggression pledge might follow a test ban agreement here paralleled similar reports current in Moscow.

It is increasingly clear that the nonaggression pact once asked by Khrushchev between the North Atlantic Alliance and Warsaw Pact powers as a sort of condition for agreement on banning tests in the air, outer space and under water, has been largely removed as a "condition."

There was optimism here, but it was restrained to a noticeable degree by the recognition on both sides that months of bickering had failed to make any sure progress.

Actor Marlon Brando told a news conference in Los Angeles Tuesday that he will participate in civil rights demonstrations in Maryland even if they're called in defiance of a National Guard ban. Brando said he would go "as a private citizen, not as a representative of the NAACP, the Civil Liberties Union or any other organization." Pentagon Issues Ban on Protests By Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional battle over civil rights blazed across many fronts today, from integration in sports stadiums to a proposed investigation of the leaders of racial demonstrations.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon, faced with protests it was encouraging military personnel to take part in demonstrations, issued new orders Tuesday night restricting such activities.

In a memorandum to all the armed services, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declared:

"It is highly inappropriate and unnecessary for military personnel, with their special obligations of citizenship, to participate in such activities."

On Again, Off Again Talks Are on Again

Chinese Accuse U. S. Of Meddling in Sino-Soviet Affairs

MOSCOW (AP) — Chinese and Soviet negotiators resumed their talks today amid reports that they were preparing a communique to soften the thunder of their split.

The talks resumed after a day's recess during which a rumor circulated that Premier Khrushchev was deliberately prolonging the talks so he could point to his differences with Communist China as an argument for Western delegations at the test ban negotiations not to press him too hard.

It was exactly the same sort of argument as the Western delegates had to offer—that an unsatisfactory agreement never would be approved by the U.S. Senate.

(Britain's Foreign Secretary Lord Home, told a news conference in The Hague he thought the ideological split between the Soviet and Chinese communists was a basic dispute which "cannot be solved.")

"U.S. Meddling"

Red China's official Peking People's Daily accused the United States today of making "increased efforts to meddle in Chinese - Soviet relations and to woo the Soviet Union in opposition to China." The paper said the U.S. press is energetically inciting the Soviet Union against China.

Another Chinese commentary, carried by the New China News Agency, charged that in the U.S. - British - Soviet negotiations in Moscow, the United States is seeking a nuclear test ban agreement to preserve the big power monopoly on nuclear weapons.

The charge by implication could also apply to the Soviet Union, but the Chinese did not direct it specifically at the Russians.

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Republicans in the Wisconsin Assembly, with their vote majority, have virtually agreed to scuttle Democratic Gov. John Reynolds' compromise tax and budget bill and to write a substitute more to their liking.

Announcement of the Republican plan was made Tuesday night by the house leadership, which declined however to detail what the GOP's alternative solution to the state financing crisis might be.

But it is likely to involve a cutback from the $636 million biennial spending level reluctantly agreed to by the governor—who wanted a higher expenditures program—and a re-enactment of the kind of general sales tax the Republicans earlier approved, but which the governor vetoed.

Announcement of the evolving alternative fiscal plan was made by Assembly Speaker Robert Haase and Paul Alfonsi, Eagle River assemblyman and Republican majority leader.

Referring to the top-heavy vote against the Reynolds' compromise last week, Alfonsi noted that the governor won only 13 of the 46 Democrats in the house to his side, and observed:

"Not Enough Support

"I am satisfied beyond a doubt that there is not enough support to pass the governor's bill."

When Haase was asked whether the Republican substitute would be acceptable to the governor, he replied:

"He had better work with the people who can pass a bill," a reference to the fact that the Republicans have a solid working majority in both houses of the legislature.

Reynolds has gone a considerable distance in conceding sales tax points to the Republicans. It is now apparent that they feel they can nudge him further, and thus eliminate the need for higher income taxes plus the bundle of special taxes on special groups which raised such a storm of resistance that the so-called compromise went

Rifle, Butts, Clubs Used Against Monks, Nuns in Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Swinging rifle butts and clubs, South Vietnamese riot police laid into a demonstration of Buddhist monks, nuns and women and children followers today, injuring at least 50.

Police backed by steel-helmeted troops arrested more than 200 demonstrators, flinging them bodily into army trucks.

Demonstrators sprawled in the dust as security forces kicked and clubbed them.

Smaller demonstrations, involving about 100 monks and nuns each, broke out around Saigon's central market and in Cholon, the Vietnamese capital's Chinatown. Riot police quelled them quickly and carried off several dozen more demonstrators.

Hunger Strike

The new Buddhist demonstrations against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, erupted as a 48-hour hunger strike by more than 200 monks and nuns went into its second day.

There were rumors that martial law might be imposed.

The biggest demonstration was at Giac Minh Pagoda, where more than 1,000 Buddhists gathered secretly overnight to march to the Xa Loi pagoda where the hunger strikers are.

Police got wind of the plan, threw barbed wire barricades across roads and called in troops.

Monks and nuns tried to break through the barbed wire several times but were thrown back. Two monks fainting and were laid prostrate in front of the wire.

A monk addressed the police and assembled newsmen over a

Iron Age Predicts Mill, Factory Closings if Railroad Unions Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A railroad strike would mean some steel posed by the director of the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission here Tuesday but the state agency head took no position on the Appleton-Oshkosh airport controversy.

T. K. Jordan told the Civil Aeronautics Board's regional air report hearing that suspension of service at Clintonville will not result in increased business at Green Bay, Oshkosh or Appleton.

Such elimination would, he said, reduce the number of Clintonville users because of what he called long driving distances to other ports.

Limousine Service

The CAB hearing is looking into the possibility of establishing regional airports to serve various municipal complexes throughout the state. Appleton and Oshkosh have been linked together for purposes of the study as have Clintonville and Green Bay.

Winnipeg (AP) — Poland is negotiating for the purchase of 3,700,000 bushels of wheat worth about $7 million from Canada, reliable sources said Tuesday.

The Communist country has become a regular customer for Canadian wheat in recent years. It took 14,200,000 bushels last fall.

A Yugoslav delegation is making final arrangements for shipment of 7.5 million bushels of wheat purchased earlier.

In another pending deal, negotiations for a large wheat sale to Communist China are continuing in Hong Kong.

Union paper mill workers at the Kimberly-Clark Corporation have ratified a new contract covering about 1,600 hourly employees, representatives of union and management announced today.

Rufin Skiba, president of local 482, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and Gerald Otto, president of local 467, United Papermakers and Paperworkers, reported that the memberships of both unions voted Monday and Tuesday to accept the provisions of the new labor contract negotiated by the company and unions last Friday.

Provisions of the agreement include a 3 per cent general wage increase, a number of individual job rate adjustments and several other contract changes.

What Happened?, Republicans Ask 24 Million Bushels of U. S. Grain Lost Somewhere on Way to Austria

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are pressing for a congressional investigation into reports that 24 million bushels of U.S. grain vanished somewhere on the way to Austria.

The $32 million worth of corn, barley and sorghum "could have gone behind the Iron Curtain" in violation of U.S. barter agreements, said Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., Tuesday in demanding a Senate investigation.

Or, he said, the grain "may have been diverted and sold in Western Germany for dollars," which would also be a violation.

Barter deals are restricted to non-Communist countries that would not otherwise pay dollars for U.S. farm products.

Williams said seven importers have been arrested in Austria and that he does not see how the grain could have disappeared without some collusion with someone in this country, although no Americans have been implicated.

Williams said the Justice Department should join the investigation.

New Fliers Club Gets Approval to Operate At Waupaca Airport

Weyauwega Group May Hire Instructor, Keep Municipal Field Open on Weekends

WAUPACA — A new fliers club told the council the map was authorized at a meeting of the city council authorization Tuesday to operate at the Waupaca Municipal Airport on U. S. 10 east of here. The club, "Weyauwega Fliers, Inc.," was granted council permission to operate the gasoline pump and use the office at the airport. The council also voted to buy 1,000 gallons of airplane gasoline as a starter for the club. Members of the club will replace the gasoline which they use or sell.

Keep Airport Open

Mayor Lloyd Matheson told the council the gasoline arrangements with the Weyauwega club represents no change. The city presently is running the gasoline pump. The new club, according to Ald. Fred Rawson, a member of the airport committee, plans to hire an instructor, buy an airplane and keep the airport open on weekends.

Mayor Matheson told the council the new club can increase business at the airport merely by letting it be known when there will be an attendant at the gasoline pump. The council rejected an offer by Green Engineering Co. to furnish a contour aerial map of the city for $1,000. Mayor Matheson and Ald. Alfred Jarnick said the offer should have been made at the time when the city contracted the firm for the aerial map marked at five-foot intervals. The five-foot interval map will be furnished for the original $1,500 contract.

Rejects Offer

Hiram Krebbs, city engineer, told the council the map was authorized at a meeting of the city planning commission. Krebbs said the federal government will not participate in the purchase of the proposed two-foot interval map. He said it would be useful in future planning, but agreed it would not replace the detailed field work of engineers.

The councilmen agreed that if such a map is desired it can be purchased later.

Authorize Work

The council authorized the board of public works to start work on the steps needed to install an eight-inch water main to the Filter materials, Inc., factory and the Waupaca County Club.

Most of the installation will replace an existing four-inch main which does not fill the demands of the filter factory.

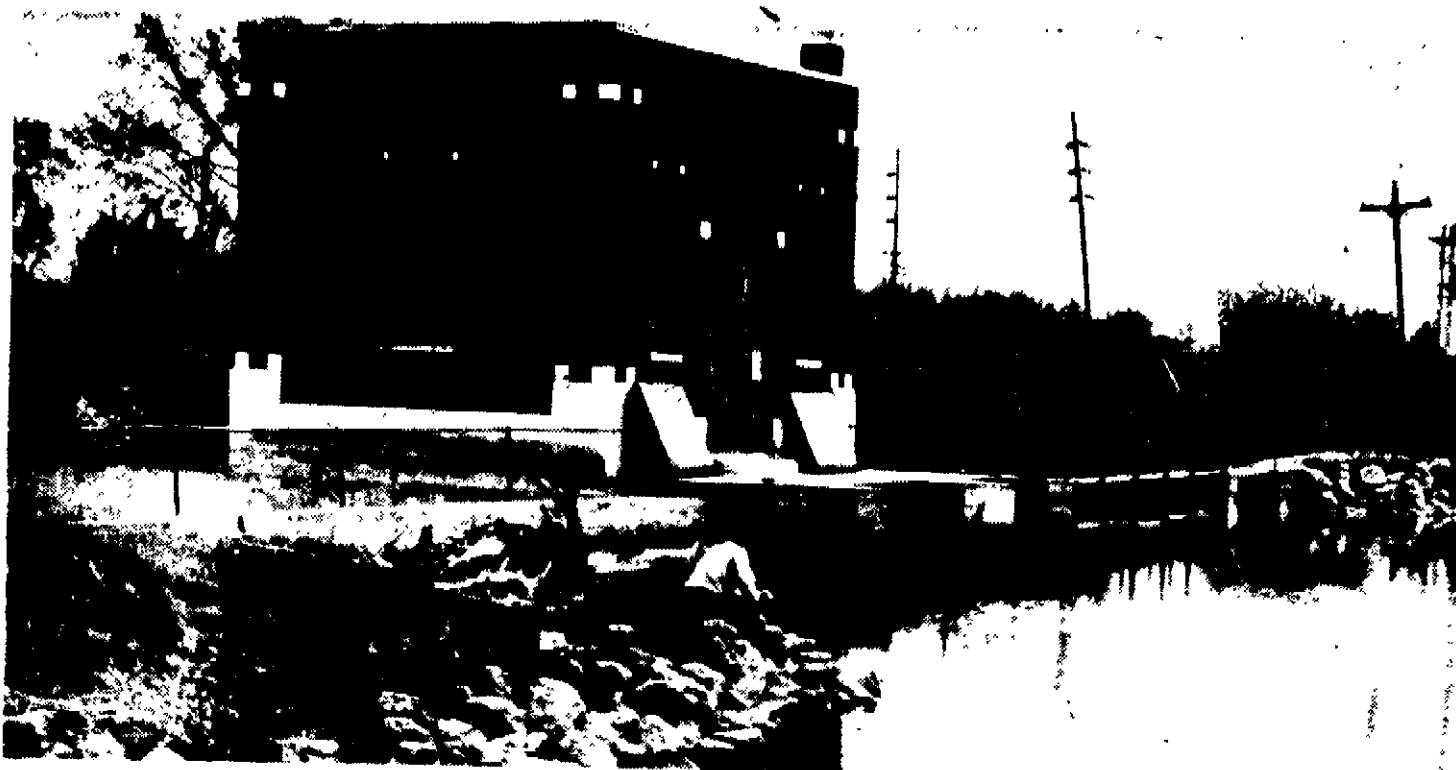

John Gusmer, plant manager, told the council when the water valves on the machines are turned on in the factory, there is not sufficient water for the drinking fountain.

Biggest Consumer

Mayor Matheson said the factory is Waupaca's biggest single consumer.

Robert Knerr, president of the Waupaca County club, said the club is willing to give the city an easement through all of its land in case the main is ever extended to the city's industrial site to the east of the golf club.

Ald. Vernon Johnson estimated the main will cost between $16,000 and $20,000. It was decided to float a loan against the water department to finance the project.

Farmer Burns Self to Death

August Berndt, 72, Weyauwega, Poured Fuel Oil Over Body

WEYAUWEGA — A 72-year-old rural Weyauwega man made a human torch of himself and took his own life between 2 and 4 p.m. Monday in a ravine near the farm on which he lived.

Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork said August Berndt, route 2, was found burned to death about 9:30 a.m. today by Donald Wangelin, 16, a neighbor. Berndt had been reported missing since 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Dr. Sam Salan, county coroner, ruled death was due to self-inflicted burns.

Undersheriff Mork said Berndt apparently went into the ravine, sat down next to a creek, soaked a rag in fuel oil, put it in his mouth, poured fuel oil over himself and lighted a match.

Mork said Berndt had not been feeling well Monday. Arthur and August Jacobs, with whom Berndt was making his home, wanted to take him to a doctor. Berndt refused.

County police Capt. Mike Myhill and patrolman George Meating assisted with the investigation.

Plan Discussion on Fate Of Wittenberg Dam

County Wants to Remove Structure, Saying It's Useless, Hazardous

WITTENBERG — Members of the conservation, public property and insurance committees of the Shawano County Board, officials of the Village and Town of Wittenberg, and representatives of local organizations will meet at 7:30 p.m. July 25 at the village hall to discuss the future of the Wittenberg dam.

The county board, present owners of the dam located in the middle branch of the Embarrass River, has decided to file a petition to the state Public Service Commission to remove the dam.

It is the board's position that the dam is useless, that it is in a dangerous condition and that the county is liable for any accident that might occur at the site of the dam.

According to village authorities, the dam is not in a hazardous condition, but needs only new railings.

Original Dam

The original dam, a coffer dam of logs and dirt, was built in the early 1880s by the Rev. E. J. Homme, founder of the Homme Orphan's Home.

He felt the need to keep the young boys at the home busy and learning a trade, so he harnessed the water power of the Embarrass and built a mill, which produced fancy "gingerbread" trim for homes.

Later the Viking Lumber Co. built a planing mill at the site. In 1907, the company built a power plant, replacing a section of the dam with concrete. An electric utility line was built into the village. In 1910 Viking sold the utility to E. L. Debot, who operated the power plant until the late 1920's.

100-Foot Structure

After heavy rains on May 12, 1912, the old log and dirt section of the dam was washed out taking with it the planing mill on the site. Debot then rebuilt the dam to the present 100-foot concrete structure.

The Wisconsin Power and Light Co. obtained the power plant in Fink and Loren Wegner; at large, the 1920s and furnished electric service on a 24-hour basis for the first time. With the increased use made from the floor at the meeting of electricity through the years.

Increase Programs

The expansion will provide facilities to increase the union's programs. It will accommodate approximately 2,000 students per meal in the cafeteria and 4,000 daily customers in the college snack bar.

The union addition is being financed from a federal government Housing and Home Finance Agency loan of $5.5 million to the board of regents of Wisconsin State Colleges for union construction at all nine state colleges.

The loans will be repaid over a 30 year period by student union fees paid by state college students and operation revenues. No tax moneys will be used in this project.

Assembly Debates on Substitute Plan Friday

Use of 'Naked Blackmail' by Lobbyist Hit

Alfonsi Assails Spokesman for State College Faculties

MADISON (AP)—A telegram sent to several legislators by an education lobbyist has been described as "nothing more than naked blackmail" by Assembly Republican Floorleader Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua.

Alfonsi said Wednesday he was turning a copy of the message over to the attorney general's office to determine whether any Civil Service violation was involved.

"My colleagues, on either side of the aisle, are working night and day to develop a tax-budget bill which is a responsible document, one which meets the needs of the state and one which the taxpayers public can afford," said Alfonsi. "We will not be bludgeoned in to irresponsible acts by bullyboy antics."

Legislative Committee
Alfonsi said he referred to a telegram sent by Harry A. Pederson of Platteville, state chairman of the Association of Wisconsin State College Faculties.

The telegram shown newsmen by Alfonsi said:

"The Association of Wisconsin State College Faculties, Platteville, respectfully requests a summary statement of your position regarding formation and support of legislation pertaining to the budget for higher education as recommended by the Joint Finance Committee."

"This statement for publication should be in our hands shortly after legislation is complete. If our association finds that your stand has been incompatible with reasonable progress in higher education, you may rest assured that we will inform the electorate of this fact and that we will recommend measures to correct the situation."

Pressure Group
"In plain language, Mr. Pederson says, 'vote my way or else,'" Alfonsi said.

"I object to any pressure group using such impertinent tactics on any legislator or either party, Republican or Democrat," Alfonsi added.

"I particularly object," he continued, "to an employee of the state of Wisconsin issuing threats to a duly-elected representative of the people of Wisconsin."

Accommodations Part
The Commerce group's hearings are limited to the accommodations part of the program.

Kennedy stressed the accommodations bill, saying discrimination in hotels, restaurants and the like "is the wrong that has caused most of the recent demonstrations."

"The other sections of the bill are ways of tunneling in to get at the smoldering origins of the fire; this one takes care of the flames," he said, by "taking the demonstrations off the streets and into the courts."

Wallace Has New Segregation Plan
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace has unveiled a new plan to try to maintain separation of the races if any Alabama school is forced to integrate: separate white and Negro classrooms in the same school. If that system fails, he said, he favors as a last resort the segregation of pupils by sex — boys in one school, girls in another.

Wallace said Wednesday that bills to carry out these proposals are being drafted for action by the current session of the state legislature.

No Statement
But, Eisenhower says, the promised presidential statement never came.

Castro suddenly began insisting that the trade be called indemnification for the invasion, and "the whole affair began to take on ominous overtones," Castro also demanded super tractors, of little

Kennedy Moves to Stem Gold Outflow

President Asks Congress to Tax Americans on Most Purchases Of Foreign Stocks and Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a surprise move, asked Congress today to tax Americans on most purchases of foreign stocks and bonds. The aim is to help stem the outflow of gold and dollars.

Kennedy's recommendation was certain to have an immediate impact on international financial markets because it would affect American investments currently approaching the rate of $2 billion a year.

The unprecedented proposal, put forth in a special message to Congress on the worrisome U.S. balance of payments problem, represented the boldest and most controversial attempt yet made by any administration to deal with the payments dilemma.

Excise Tax
To discourage the mounting flow of American savings abroad, Kennedy called for a special excise tax ranging from 2½ per cent to 15 per cent on the purchase price of securities issued by governments and businesses in industrialized countries. The tax would go into effect Friday and remain on the books until Dec. 31, 1965.

Admittedly this would be strong medicine. But Kennedy said it would "help prevent pressures for more restrictive measures."

Wall Street Stable Despite SEC Criticism

Heads of 2 Major Stock Exchanges Planning Rebuttal

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street regained more assurance today after nervousness triggered by probing criticism of several key stock market mechanisms.

The market, skittish for several weeks now, opened mixed to a little lower.

"The trend is being determined by other factors," said Sidney Lurie, a partner in Josephthal & Co.

"This criticism is just another irritant, as it were."

Others Agree

Some other brokers agreed.

Presidents of the nation's two largest securities marts worked on rebuttal to an unexpectedly

Amid outcries of dismay from some brokers, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, held his peace. So did Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American Stock Exchange.

They said time was required to digest the 2,100-page installment of SEC inquiry findings, sequel to a milder report last April.

'Ill-Advised'

However, Etherington promised to voice his opinions of "ill-advised" comments in the report.

The SEC special study committee assailed several time-honored stock market practices, mostly concerned with the market's inside workings rather than activities directly touching the public.

It called for new curbs on short selling, floor traders and stock specialists, tighter supervision of trading in unlisted securities in the over-the-counter market and

GOP Wants Big Sales Tax Boost

MADISON (AP)—The State Assembly will begin debate Friday on a Republican prepared budget-tax plan calling for $80 million in new sales taxes and a $37.8 million income tax increase to finance $615 million in state spending during 1963-65.

Republican Floorleader Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua promised that if the GOP plan is not adopted and sent to the governor the majority party is "prepared to go home and willing to suffer the consequences."

Debate on the substitute proposal was scheduled as a special order of business at 2 p.m. Friday after the Assembly voted 74-16 to reconsider the action by which it killed the original budget-tax plan offered by Gov. John W. Reynolds and approved by the Senate.

The Assembly killed the compromise plan and then Republicans went to work and drafted the substitute which chops $18 million from the compromise budget and relies heavily on sales taxes to finance it.

GOP Confident

GOP leaders said they were confident the measure can pass the Republican-controlled Legislature, but the Democratic chief executive has not indicated whether he will accept the new plan.

The proposal calls for $153 million in new taxes for the 1963-65 biennium. Of the total, $80.1 million would be provided by a three per cent sales tax exempting

Bill Aimed at Racial Discord

Committee Hears Robert Kennedy on Civil Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told Congress today the administration's civil rights bill is aimed at "stamping out the fires of racial discord in our land."

In his third appeal on Capitol Hill for passage of the measure, Kennedy said discrimination in education, employment, voting and public accommodations that bars Negroes from the "main stream of our society" must be wiped out.

While Kennedy was testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee on the administration's seven-point program, another Cabinet member, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, was telling the Senate Commerce Committee that an end to discrimination in public accommodations would contribute immeasurably to the nation's economy.

Unions Term Rail Report 'Accurate'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor union representatives put a "factually accurate" label today on a fact-finding report designed to provide President Kennedy with information needed in preparation of legislative proposals to avert a nationwide railroad strike.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds told a newsman that representatives of five on-train unions threatening the strike over proposed new work rules "questioned very few points" in the report, which was completed in preliminary form Wednesday.

The union representatives met for an hour with the special six-man presidential panel that drew up the report.

Representatives of the carriers were scheduled to meet with the panel immediately afterward to offer their comments.

Containing no recommendation for settlement of the four-year-long dispute, the fact-finding report runs only about 12 pages.

It goes to Kennedy Friday.

The President will use the fact-finding report in drawing up recommendations for legislation to be submitted to Congress next Monday.

'The Wine Is Bitter: U. S. and Latin America'

Cuban Tractor Deal 'Amazing and Muddled Incident,' Milton Eisenhower Says in Book

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — An unexpected telephone call from President Kennedy involved Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower in "one of the most amazing and muddled incidents in the history of inter-American affairs," the former president's brother says.

Dr. Eisenhower's book, "The Wine Is Bitter: The United States and Latin America," published by Doubleday, relates a sequel to the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. He calls the episode "the most exasperating, frustrating and enervating six weeks of my life."

The story concerns the attempt to liberate Cuban invasion prisoners in return for $3-million worth of tractors. Eventually, a year and a half later, the cost was 20 times that much in medical supplies. Dr. Eisenhower intimates the episode nearly brought disaster on U.S. prestige.

Terrible Mistakes
"Fortunately," he writes, "the terrible mistakes made in the Cuban invasion and the clumsy fumbling displayed in the tractors for prisoners deal have not characterized other efforts of the Kennedy administration in the Latin American area. The moment that President Kennedy called in the ambassadors of the Latin American republics to the White House, early in 1961 to formulate an Alliance (for Progress) our efforts to seek justice for the underprivileged of Latin America (through collective action have been constantly and earnestly pursued."

Most of the book concerns Dr. Eisenhower's observations as special Latin-American ambassador for President Eisenhower. But a chapter is devoted to the tractors affair which began a month after the invasion when Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba offered to trade the prisoners.

Dr. Eisenhower says President Kennedy telephoned him May 19, 1961, and explained that Castro was sending 10 prisoners to the United States to negotiate for the release of the others. The President wanted to "establish a committee of private citizens for the sole purpose of raising funds to buy the tractors," and said he would "explain the matter to the American people the next day."

Dr. Eisenhower agreed to serve. So did the late Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther and other prominent Americans.

Nuclear Test Ban Talks in 4th Day

Luncheon for East German Causes 90-Minute Delay in Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S., British and Soviet negotiators went into the fourth session of their Moscow conference today to hammer out further details of a partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The meeting opened 90 minutes later than usual.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko obtained the delay to give a luncheon for East German Foreign Minister Lothar Boltz, who arrived Wednesday with specialists in transportation and finance for consultations.

The Americans gave no indication of displeasure at the visit of the East Germans, for it was quite within the right of the Soviet government to invite representatives of a fraternal Communist state to the Soviet capital.

No Contact

But Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman made it clear the U.S. delegation would have no contact with the East Germans.

Western diplomatic experts expressed the view that success in the nuclear test ban talks could lead to broader East-West negotiations and perhaps a summit conference this year.

Negotiators of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union still face several thorny issues.

Talk of a summit conference rose last spring. U.S. officials discounted it because no special agreement seemed possible then.

But if the Moscow conference is successful, President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev, and British Prime Minister Macmillan could well decide either to sign the test ban treaty personally or to meet soon after its signing to

Sees Brother Die Under Freight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — William Couhal, 9, was killed Wednesday when he fell under the wheels of a freight train.

Police said the victim's brother, Joseph, 13, related he saw William fall under a box car as they were jumping off a slow moving train. The brothers and several other boys had been hooking rides, police said.

The Reapportionment Suit

It is probably a good thing for the state that the Wisconsin supreme court has consented to consider the petition brought by Gov. Reynolds with the intention of securing an order from the court directing the legislature to enact what the governor calls a "valid" act redistricting the legislature.

The governor and the legislature are actually not very far apart in their definitions of an accurate and fair reapportionment of senate and assembly seats. The governor's position is that Milwaukee County should have two more seats, at the cost of rural Wisconsin since the assembly is already at the maximum size permitted under the constitution. That is by his own calculation a margin of error of two per cent. or far less than can be found in many of the other states of the country including some of those which are close neighbors. Most persons who have studied the matter will probably conclude also that the margin of discrepancy is somewhat less, since there are limitations in the constitutional law covering reapportionment that make 100 per cent arithmetical accuracy unattainable, without regard to who does the map-making.

Yet the state probably needs an incisive interpretation of the constitutional law on this subject, if only to dispose of the interminable wrangling in the political campaigns and the time-consuming maneuvering in successive sessions of the legislature.

The Republican leadership in the legislature has brought in a proposal to achieve reapportionment—following Mr. Reynolds' veto of the original reapportionment bill—by joint resolution of the two houses, without the participation of the executive.

While this department makes no pretense of competence in the field of law, it appears to us that this proposal rests on a flimsy hope. It is true that the constitution does not specifically mention the governor, as it directs the legislature to adjust its district boundaries at decennial intervals. But that does not mean that he is eliminated by the statutory process of law-making. Other constitutional provisions clearly set out the governor's rights and duties, including the right to sign or veto acts of the legislature intended to become law.

Here again, however, it will probably be useful to have a court interpretation, to eliminate such inconclusive speculations in the future. A fair apportionment of legislative representation is one of the foundations of democratic life. One might wish that a way could be found to persuade the court to consider also the issue of county board reapportionment, which strangely has aroused very little interest among some of the loudest critics of legislative district boundaries.

Collective Bargaining—Two Views

There was a great contrast in the effectiveness of collective bargaining last week in the handling of strikes threatening the railroad industry and our own Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

In the rail case, the Federal government had to intervene to prevent a nationwide strike against the public interest because collective bargaining completely broke down. And it broke down because the railroad unions, and to a lesser extent the railroads, simply refused to bargain over the work rules issue, preferring that the government settle the matter.

In contrast, new contracts have now been approved between Kimberly-Clark and two AFL-CIO unions after extended bargaining sessions which several times were on the verge of reaching a strike deadline. But on each such occasion cool heads prevailed and the deadline was extended to permit further talks.

We congratulate the management of Kimberly-Clark and the leadership of the unions involved for having successfully negotiated some difficult and intricate problems for their mutual benefit, thereby relieving this community of the great economic hardships a strike in such an important local industry would have caused.

New Problem in New York Schools

An example of what can happen when authorities do not have clearly defined and understood policies has developed in the schools of New York City, already beset by a myriad of racial, educational and financial problems.

For several years New York school authorities have made sincere efforts to avoid segregation in schools by shifting pupils who live on the fringes of districts. The educational standard has been used in many cases since it was thought necessary to balance the number of youngsters of different races and backgrounds, particularly because of the large number of immigrant Puerto Ricans. Youngsters have been transferred to schools outside their regular districts for academic reasons as well since some New York schools have advanced vocational programs or specialized courses such as Russian or calculus.

But last week the superintendent announced the decision to permit the transfer of a 14-year-old Negro boy from John Jay High School to Fort Hamilton High School. After weeks of argument the boy's mother had presented a certificate from a doctor which stated that the boy suffered from bronchial asthma and that "it would be a medical hardship and possible educational hindrance for him to attend a secondary school where possible tension—social, environmental, etc.—might obtain."

A medical hardship would appear to be reason enough for a transfer in the case, for instance, of a crippled boy attending a three story school when a one story one was near by. But in the New York case it must be suspected that demonstrations and sit downs by members of the Congress of Racial Equality had some influence in the decision.

John Hay High School is 91 per cent white while Fort Hamilton is 99 per cent white. If there is a situation of tension at John Jay it is certainly the Board of Education's responsibility to do something about it. But was CORE really interested in easing tension at John Jay? Or was there more involved in the growing rivalry among the various Negro groups? Was CORE trying to demonstrate its power?

If so, the decision may in the long run be disastrous for New York schools. If a Negro youngster can be transferred because of "possible tension", why cannot the white youngsters attending schools with high percentages of Puerto Rican and Negro youngsters? All sorts of allergies can be found that increase with tension. Moreover the matter of "possible educational hindrance" is also involved. This is something quite easy to demonstrate in almost any case at all and almost impossible to disprove. If white parents generally use the medical certificate gimmick, efforts to keep the schools from becoming segregated will be largely useless.

If some New York schools are blackboard jungles, demonstrations may be important in encouraging the constant efforts to ameliorate the serious and dangerous situations. But switching a handful of youngsters out of the schools where tension exists is of no benefit for any of the races.

How Do You Like the Water Now?

Enjoying your "chemical cocktails" these days?

We are referring to the tasty (you describe it) river water coming out of the faucets of some 17,000 Appleton homes.

It wouldn't have to be that way if the common council would decide to get the proposed Lake Michigan pipeline project off the shelf and take some action toward procuring a fresh water supply for the City of Appleton.

While the lake-tapping project appears to be at a standstill, the weather gets warmer and the quality of the water being consumed by Appletonians continues to fluctuate.

And, water department officials who have recommend that a new water source be obtained as soon as possible, say that things will get worse before they get better. That's probably because the algae and pollution in the Fox River is getting heavier by the day.

In the meantime, we might as well join the line of folks at Erb Park where the fresh well-water pump has been doing a rushing business. People are making it a habit to go there for their drinking water supply.

Or if you should feel like traveling, take a short drive to Green Bay where residents have all of the cool, quality water they want from Lake Michigan.

Henry Taylor Writes

Eisenhower's Farewell Warning On Defense Spending Recalled

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
Former President Eisenhower's White House farewell warning to his fellow Americans is quoted here at length.

If we do not use our eyes for seeing we shall use them for weeping in this great world from today's industrial-military-bureaucratic complex.

This is the prime lesson made evident in the $2 billion a year "Overkill" nuclear materials stockpiling program: the product of pork-barrel profits, bureaucratic habits, divided responsibility and its own momentum.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara deserves a nationwide roar of thanks for now attempting its cutback. The immediate saving can be at least $1 billion a year. Equally important, this shows the courage to confront our industrial-military-bureaucratic complex with the hard word "No."

MUST REMAIN SOLVENT
Our national defense is the only peace insurance we have. We must be, and remain, the strongest, best-armed nation on earth. Failing to be strong we invite aggression. But our bureaucracy now spends $143 million a day for national defense, or at least under that label. And failing to be solvent we defeat ourselves.

More than half of every tax dollar is sprayed out by the Defense Department — a department larger than all other departments of the government combined. And when any agency is distributing $143 million a day of the taxpayers' money there's a built-in guarantee of colossal waste and plenty of Alice-in-Wonderland buying.

The property bought for the Air Force alone in the past three years cost more than all the property of A. T. & T., Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Pennsylvania Railroad and General Motors combined. As one result, the population explosion may be one problem elsewhere but the power explosion is our problem in Washington.

Of all subjects, it is especially significant that President Eisenhower chose this as his warning after being Supreme Commander and serving eight years in the Presidency. On Jan. 17, 1961, he said, in part:

"Threats, new in kind and degree, constantly arise. We have permanent armaments industry of vast proportions. Added to this, three and a half million men and women are directly engaged in the Defense Establishment. We annually spend on military security alone more than the net income of all U.S. corporations.

"This conjunction of an immense military establishment and a large armaments industry is new. The total influence — economic, political, even spiritual — is felt in every city, every state house, every office of the Federal government. We must not fail to comprehend its grave implications. Our toil, our resources and livelihood are all involved; so is the very structure of our society.

USE OF MISPLACED POWER
"In the councils of government we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous use of misplaced power exists and will persist.

"We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense.

"Each defense proposal must be weighed in the light of a broader consideration, the need to maintain balance—in and among national programs. . . . There must be priorities.

"We must avoid the impulse to live only for today, plundering the precious resources of tomorrow. We cannot mortgage the material assets of our grandchildren without risking the loss also of their political and spiritual heritage."

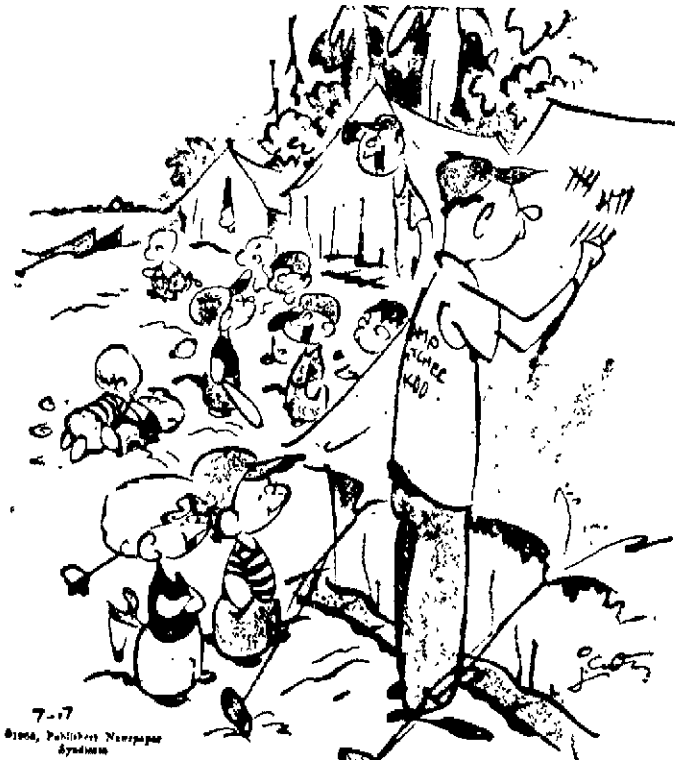

We have a near-term defense problem against Red aggression. We have also a long-term problem, which is worse. We are behaving like the hare when our race is really against a tortoise.

Congress and our people must have the courage to oppose unlimited spending for our so-called national defense — to say nothing of such sinkholes of waste, duplication and ego-rivalry as the space agency.

Our security and our solvency are indivisible. There is no defense in a nation which has burst its economy. When General Eisenhower says to beware the great pressures from the industrial-military-bureaucratic complex, if he doesn't know what he is talking about, who does?

Mrs. Barton Played A Creative Role in History of Her Times

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — One of the distinguished women in the public services of Wisconsin reluctantly retired the other day for compelling personal reasons. Mrs. Rebecca Barton, the executive director of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights during the entire period of its existence, was one of the comparatively few contemporaries who had the opportunity to establish a new public service agency. No one who reads the lessons of current history can doubt that it was a kind of a herald in a public problem field that will become more severe before it is resolved.

Wyngaard

Mrs. Barton was chosen as the modestly paid officer of the commission originally established by the late Gov. Walter S. Goodland to attempt to put the power and the influence and the prestige of the state to the service of the cause of improved human relations.

Comparatively few "practical" politicians of that time would have undertaken such an assignment willingly. There was no real political backing for the program. Hard-headed persons no doubt regarded her selection as that of a meddler and a dogooder.

THE CHALLENGE
But Mrs. Barton, sturdy spirit disguised in a lady-like demeanor, had a powerful conviction. She believed that reason could be harnessed to the cause of inter-faith and inter-racial understanding.

In a decade and a half of patient and cheerful effort, she has probably contributed more to the realization of constitutional and ethical ideals in Wisconsin than a hundred sermonizers from public pulpits and editorial pages. It has become trite to say that institutions are the lengthened shadows of men. But in a very real sense the Governor's Commission in Wisconsin is the reflection of the plucky optimism of Mrs. Barton about the good sense of her compatriots.

In the nature of the work of this agency there is secrecy.

Such matters as fall into its jurisdiction are not aided by the glare of headlines and the noise of public controversy. But nearly everybody who has had a knowledge of state affairs during the last decade or more can tell a story of the quietly effective work of this remarkable woman of great faith in the decency of mankind.

Perhaps a couple of hundred men and women have thus far served terms as members of the Commission, which consists of about 35 representatives of groups and individuals concerned with religious, racial and similar misunderstandings and conflicts. Many of them have done service beyond the call of duty. But few of them, it may be guessed, would deny that the central spirit was always Mrs. Barton, gentlewoman, idealist, and indefatigable worker.

THE LADY
"Becky" Barton (in the state capitol the affectionate diminutive is infrequent) once related in a published report on her work that she regarded this reporter as a somewhat dour fellow.

That idea might have resulted from an incident long ago when she asked on an extremely busy day in the news business at the statehouse for a chance to discuss a pending issue that worried her. Quite thoughtlessly I suggested that I had an appointment with other reporters at a capitol square bar then favored by the correspondents. Unhesitatingly she replied that she would be happy to meet me there. She did, although I had the impression that she was a little nonplussed by the environment. It taught me not to underestimate the lady's firmness of purpose.

So this is intended as part apology, part salute to a woman whose achievements may not be immediately apparent to her contemporaries, but which will be evaluated by posterity. In the surge of civil and human rights pressures that is rapidly reaching the dimensions of a revolution, her deep loyalty to American ideals, steady good sense, infinite patience, and faith in her fellow men will be missed. For herself, she has a reward that comes to comparatively few persons — the awareness that she had a creative part in the history of her times.

Strictly Personal

One's Image Is Often Far From the Reality

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
I was pleased to read that at a recent meeting of advertising people in New York, the director of creative projects at NBC news told the group that the worst word ever coined by advertising people is "image."

As reported in Advertising Age, he said that "substance and truth are the important things, rather than image, even if the picture is at times unpleasant."

The "image" is what the public sees and hears; the reality behind the image may be quite another thing. If we labor heavily and expensively at the image, and make the public believe what we are not, then there is little incentive to change the reality itself.

There is the same difference between the old-fashioned words "character" and "reputation." A man's reputation is what others have been trained to think about him; his character is what he really is. If he devotes most of his efforts to improving his reputation, for its own sake, then his character will inevitably suffer.

"We must change our image," says a company — but an image must be a true reflection of reality, or it is a fake. And the only permanent, meaningful way to change an image is to change the substance behind it.

Harris

The substance cannot be changed by publicity, by promotion, by advertising — but only by a radical re-examination of one's goals, standards, and values. This is hard work, and often unpleasant to face, but it is the only ultimately rewarding way to merge the reality with the image.

What others think of us is, of course, important; and we do not want them to have a wrong conception. Yet, merely dressing up our image to please and flatter and beguile the public is a form of prostitution, unless the inner self conforms to the outer appearance.

When a professional group, such as doctors or lawyers, feels that its image has become somewhat tarnished in recent years, it usually opens a barrage of publicity about the "dedication," the "service," the "high ideals" that animate these professions. Rarely is any attempt made to remedy practices and reform procedures that have tarnished the image.

It is generally considered sufficient if the public is persuaded to adopt a newer and brighter image; but this, too, will fail the test of time if the substance is not altered — and successive campaigns will have to be more intense and hysterical to offset the renewed cynicism.

"Image" is a word we should all forget as quickly as possible. It is a debased currency, whose purchasing power decreases the more we inflate it with publicity.

Negro is a Citizen

Racists Overlook One Fundamental Premise

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — In some memorable words a Negro and two segregationist governors got their views before Congress these past few days on just and unjust laws and the rights of whites and Negroes.

The Negro was the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and leader of demonstrations against racial discrimination.

From jail last April in Birmingham, after being arrested for leading a parade without a permit, he wrote a letter to eight white, troubled clergymen. Several House members had it printed Monday in the Congressional Record.

The governors—Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama—both tried this past year to defy a federal court order to admit Negroes to their state universities. They yielded only when President Kennedy used troops.

These two men testified before the Senate Commerce Committee, which is considering that part of Kennedy's civil rights bill—the public accommodations part—which would forbid business places dealing with the public to discriminate against Negroes.

Issue Sidetracked
In the governors' testimony—attacking the Kennedy administration and suggesting Communists were behind the Negroes' protests against mistreatment—the simple question behind it all got sidetracked.

Since the Constitution guarantees all citizens equal treatment, and the Negro is a citizen, why isn't he and why shouldn't he be given the same treatment as whites?

Barnett said the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, are encouraging demonstrations inspired by Communists and the attorney general has been personally responsible for "putting mobs in the streets."

King Letter
He implied there would be general defiance of the accommodations bill, if it became law; he said it would mean the end of constitutional government; and he predicted "racial violence of unimaginable scope."

He asked: "How far do you think the great white majority of this nation will stand to be pushed?" (King in his letter said the reason Negroes are asserting themselves now is because they have been pushed too far too long.)

Wallace took the same line as Barnett. He said the Kennedy brothers are sponsoring "a revolution of government against the people." Any branch of government, in his view, which wants equal treatment for Negroes appears wrong.

He said Kennedy's executive branch, whose actions he denounced, has ignored the Constitution while the Supreme Court, which has consistently upheld Negroes' rights, has "perverted the Constitution."

Wallace, like Barnett, predicted violent defiance of the Kennedy bill if it became law. He said the government would need so many troops "to police America it would have to bring all those overseas home."

Although Wallace said he has "full respect for constitutional government," he said he wouldn't do anything to help enforce a public accommodations law and would "let the federal folk try to enforce it."

Before he finished, Wallace took a crack at King, referring to "Martin Luther King and his Communist friends."

Thus, while the two governors sworn to uphold the law were predicting defiance of law, they were condemning Negro demonstrators jailed for violating city laws against disturbing the peace or parading without a permit.

King, in his letter to eight Christian and Jewish clergymen, said, "You express a great deal of anxiety over our willingness to break laws."

Cup Runs Over
"There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over and men are no longer willing to be plunged into an abyss of injustice where they experience the bleakness of corroding despair. I hope, sirs, you can understand our legitimate and unavoidable impatience."

"Since we so diligently urge people to obey the Supreme Court's decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in the public schools (the ruling Barnett and Wallace both defied), it is rather strange and paradoxical to find us consciously breaking laws."

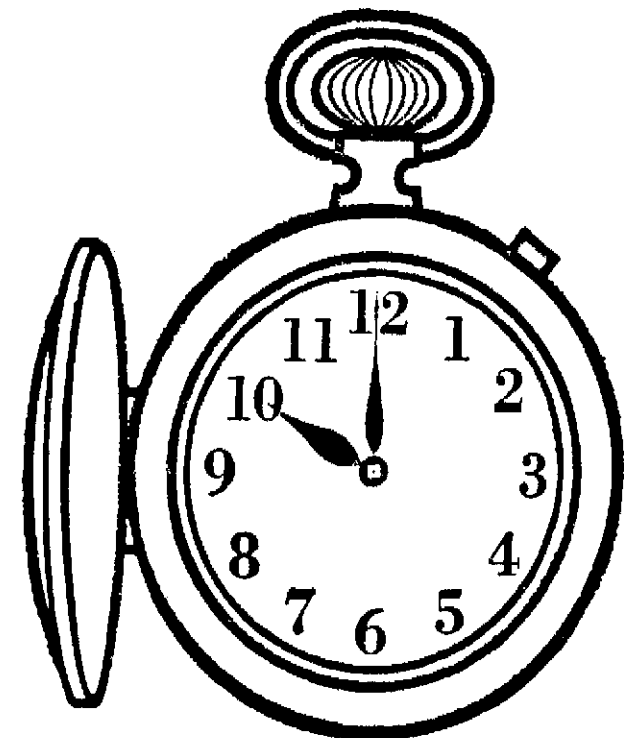

King explained the Negroes' attitude toward laws: "Let us turn to a concrete example of just and unjust laws. An unjust law is a code that a majority inflicts on a minority and that is not binding on itself. This is difference made legal."

"On the other hand, a just law is a code that a majority compels a minority to follow that it is willing to follow itself. This is sameness made legal."

Music Clinic Attracts High School Students

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Madison is a song-filled city this week as hundreds of high school musicians descend upon it to further their musical educations.

The University of Wisconsin campus is the site of the annual Music Clinic, now being held. The clinic is sponsored by the extension division of the Music Department.

Academic Atmosphere

Students find several hours each day devoted to earnest study of music, taught by university music professors. Much of their spare time must be spent preparing for the next day's lessons and the Robert Bregni, a commercial art-clinic talent show to be held at the end of their two-week stay.

But in what spare time the students have, they find there is Lake Mendota in their backyard on the college campus. The academic atmosphere, with its many different intellectual types, is interesting to say the least. And the boys quickly learn that the girl to boy ratio is two to one among clinic students.

These scores of a few of the dozens of Fox Valley faces frequenting the Madison campus this week were recorded by Post-Crescent Madison Bureau photographer Tim Wyngaard.

Feel Missing Boy May Have Fallen in River

NEW LONDON — Search continued today for an 8-year-old boy who hasn't returned to his home since 10 a.m. Monday and who, it is now believed, may have fallen into either the Embarrass or Wolf Rivers.

Donald Blank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Blank, 316 Wisconsin St., was last seen by his mother walking down the street, apparently on his way to play.

The youth's disappearance triggered a city-wide search under the direction of Police Chief Jack Algiers and the New London police force.

Continue Search

The search started at 11:30 p.m. Monday when police were notified of the boy's disappearance and continued throughout the night and all day Tuesday. Members of the New London volunteer fire department were alerted at 7 a.m. and joined the search until it was discontinued at 9:30 p.m.

Friends and neighbors of the Blank family continued the search on into Tuesday night.

After checking out several reports of people sighting the boy Tuesday, Chief Algiers said the last time the boy was seen was near Taft Park on N. Water Street by city park employees at about 2 p.m. Monday.

Checks Boat Houses

When the boy was not found, the search area was expanded to the banks of both rivers and wooded areas along the rivers. At day-break Sgt. Lawrence Shetter joined the search and checked all boat-houses as well as wooded areas on the city's north and east sides. The homes of several of Donald's friends also were checked.

When firemen joined the search they also covered the wooded area north of the Embarrass River. They dragged the Embarrass River from the Green Bay and Western railroad bridge to the point where the river empties into the Wolf River.

Air Search

A light plane piloted by Fire Chief Al Schafer took the search into the air but because of dense tree cover in most of the area, the air search was abandoned. At the time of his disappearance, the boy was wearing a light-colored T-shirt, green shorts and tennis shoes. While searching the banks along the Embarrass River, Mrs. Blank said she thought she found Donald's footprints but was unable to follow them.

Mrs. Blank said Donald and one of his older brothers often dug new camp grounds. Camp LuWicams for fish bait along the Embarrass River.

Late Tuesday police received a report from children in the Blank neighborhood that Donald was seen going towards Hatten Park. A party was sent to search the park again, but their efforts were fruitless.

Chief Algiers said the search for the boy will continue today.

Model of Vatican City Being Shown at Shrine

An exact scale model of Vatican City was placed on public exhibit for a month Monday at the Shrine of Holy Hill, according to D. J. Kenny, president of the B. C. Ziegler and Co., owners of the display.

The eight square foot, glass enclosed exhibit was introduced by the Ziegler firm a month ago at the Catholic Hospital convention in Chicago. Kenny said it would be shown extensively throughout the country for the next 18 months.

The Holy Hill shrine, located 30 miles northwest of Milwaukee, has long been one of Wisconsin's pilgrim and tourist attractions. Approximately 500,000 people visit the picturesque shrine each year which is located atop the highest point in southeastern Wisconsin.

Name Low Bidder for Green Bay Project

CHICAGO (AP)—Reeke-Marold Co. of Green Bay, Wis., was the apparent low bidder Tuesday on a contract for air conditioning the Green Bay post office and federal building. Reeke-Marold's bid was $196,500 on the project estimated to cost $178,000. The bids were submitted to the General Services Administration.

publicly director, urged those who plan to attend to bring a picnic lunch. Swimming, hiking and camp tours will take place before and after the services.

The 340-acre campsite is being sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League of the South Wisconsin district. The site was purchased in November, 1961, with an initial donation of $8,000 from the Synod's Lutheran Women's Mission League.

Cottages and dormitories for the youth and family camping are being built as funds become available, according to Erwin Wiese, Elm Grove, LLL, camp committee chairman.

Lawrence Says: Test Ban Pact Must Include
Red Chinese
High Level Talks
Won't Solve Problem Of World Aggression

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Are the present talks at Moscow on a nuclear test ban just the prelude to a long series of negotiations that will eventually prove as fruitless to prevent World War III as the same kind of parleys were before each of the last two big wars?

For the realistic fact is that Red China is capable of provoking a world conflict. The Peking government is about to test its first atomic bomb. Quantity production may be years away, but it takes only a few bombs to intimidate neighboring countries in an attempt to acquire more territory. China has a number of Soviet-trained scientists of her own, and a test of the first bomb is expected in a few months. So the tactics of terror can begin now.

Red China, in breaking away from Russia, may, of course, lose some economic and military support, but this doesn't prevent her from threatening countries in Southeast Asia and even starting an attack on Formosa or Korea if it suits her purpose.

The Peking leaders are bent on a nationalistic course and on the building of an empire of their own to dominate Asia. They feel nuclear weapons are essential to the satisfaction of their national ambitions. A nuclear-test agreement in Moscow that doesn't include a means of stopping further aggression by Red China is not going to prevent a war in Asia, which could eventually involve Japan as well as the United States and lead to a world war.

Summit Talks
Negotiations at a "high level" such as are going on in Moscow this week, or even "summit" talks which are being hinted at already, cannot solve the problem. Mere conversation at high levels has proved ineffective in preventing the last two world wars.

World War I, for instance, was preceded by a series of conferences. Even the United States, known then as an "isolationist" country, took a hand in attempting to prevent a big war. President Wilson tried hard to avert it, and in May 1914 sent his personal ambassador, Col. E. M. House, on a trip to Europe that lasted several weeks. The latter had long private talks with Emperor William of Germany and Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Minister of Great Britain. But there was procrastination on both sides, and the informal mediation got nowhere. Mr. House revealed in his memoirs many years later what he had written to the American Ambassador at London, Walter Hines Page, just after the war broke out in August 1914:

"It is all a bad business, and just think how near we came to making such a catastrophe impossible! If England had moved a little faster and had let me go back to Germany, the thing, perhaps, could have been done."

But Ambassador Page wrote in reply:

"No, no, no—no power on earth could have prevented it. The German militarism, which is the crime of the last fifty years, has been working for this for twenty-five years. It is the logical result of their spirit and enterprise and doctrine. It had to come. But, of course they chose the wrong time and the wrong issue. Militarism has no judgment. Don't let your conscience be worried. You did all that any mortal man could do. But nobody could have done anything effective. We've got to see to it that this system doesn't grow up again—that's all."

Scarcely had these memoirs been published when the events leading to the outbreak of World War II, based on almost identical factors, were the subject of the same kind of frantic efforts by negotiation and even appeasement at such conferences as those held before and after Munich in 1938. But World War II came in 1939—just 25 years after the first one.

People in Dark
What does all this portend with reference to a possible World War III? In both periods prior to the two major wars, peoples in all countries were in the dark about what was happening. There is somewhat more being published today about the diplomatic conversations that are going on, but there's a lot being suppressed, too. Fundamentally, what was wrong before 1914 and before 1939 is wrong today. The peoples of the world—the prospective victims—are unable to bring their influence to bear on their governments. Secrecy of negotiation has some merit, but not at the expense of essential facts that need to be stated and re-stated publicly.

Thus, for instance, the problem today is not nuclear-test agreements or even a non-aggression treaty with the Communist bloc in Eastern Europe, through the Warsaw Pact, as Khrushchev demands. It is the need for exposure of what imperialistic ambitions, with its militaristic instruments, means in relation to what is actually going on now in the so-called "Cold War" in Cuba and Latin America, as well as in the Middle East, Africa and Southeast Asia.

Crimes Not Publicized
Infiltration and encroachment and even aggression were rampant before World War I and World War II, and rivalries were well publicized. The crimes of an autocratic government were not, however, brought out then and are not being hammered home today to the peoples of all countries as penetratingly as they should be.

The "Iron Curtain," realistically, extends beyond Eastern Europe and reaches into many countries in the West where apathy and indifference to the menace of Communist imperialism prevails. This is as dangerous as is the failure of the peoples inside the Soviet Union and inside Red China to learn the whole truth—that they may be destroyed by the folly of their own rulers.

Meanwhile, must the rest of the world live under a reign of terror, or will the ingenuity of man devise ways and means of reaching into the hearts and minds of sensible humans behind the "Iron Curtain?"

Irish Comedy
Next Play at Green Ram

'Far Off Hills' Opens
Friday With Guest Star Norman Michie

BARABOO — An Irish family's shenanigans result in two charming love stories in "The Far Off Hills," opening at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Green Ram Theatre.

Written in the best tradition of Irish playwriting, the Lennox Robinson comedy will be repeated nightly through Tuesday at the all-weather theater, located midway between Wisconsin Dells and Baraboo on US Highway 12.

The tale of the Clancy family is centered about the eldest daughter, Marian, who plans to enter a convent when she feels she has fulfilled her family responsibilities. Bristling under her too-firm grip, her fun-loving widowed father and younger sisters use their Irish wit and charm to lower the boom on her well ordered plans.

Norman Michie Star
The play stars Green Ram resident actress, Jane Ogden, as Marian and guest actor, Norman Michie, as Pat Clancy.

The younger Clancy sisters will be played by real-life sisters, Pat and Shirley Wilson, drama students at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. They make their first appearance at the Green Ram this week.

Under the direction of Gloria Link, the cast features Ram resident actors Jack Bittrich, John Figmiller, Wil Denson, Cam Kornman, Judith Alperin and Sanford Syse.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1938, flier Douglas Corrigan took off from New York's Floyd Bennett Field, ostensibly on a flight to California. He wound up at the Dublin Airport in Ireland—landing with neither permit nor passport. For his unusual feat, he became known as "wrong way" Corrigan.

In 1940, the Democratic Convention nominated President Franklin Delano Roosevelt for a third term.

One year ago—U.S. Air Force Major Robert White piloted the X-15 rocket plane to an altitude of nearly 50 miles.
